

A2+ LEVEL

WRITING BOOKLET

This page is intentionally left blank.

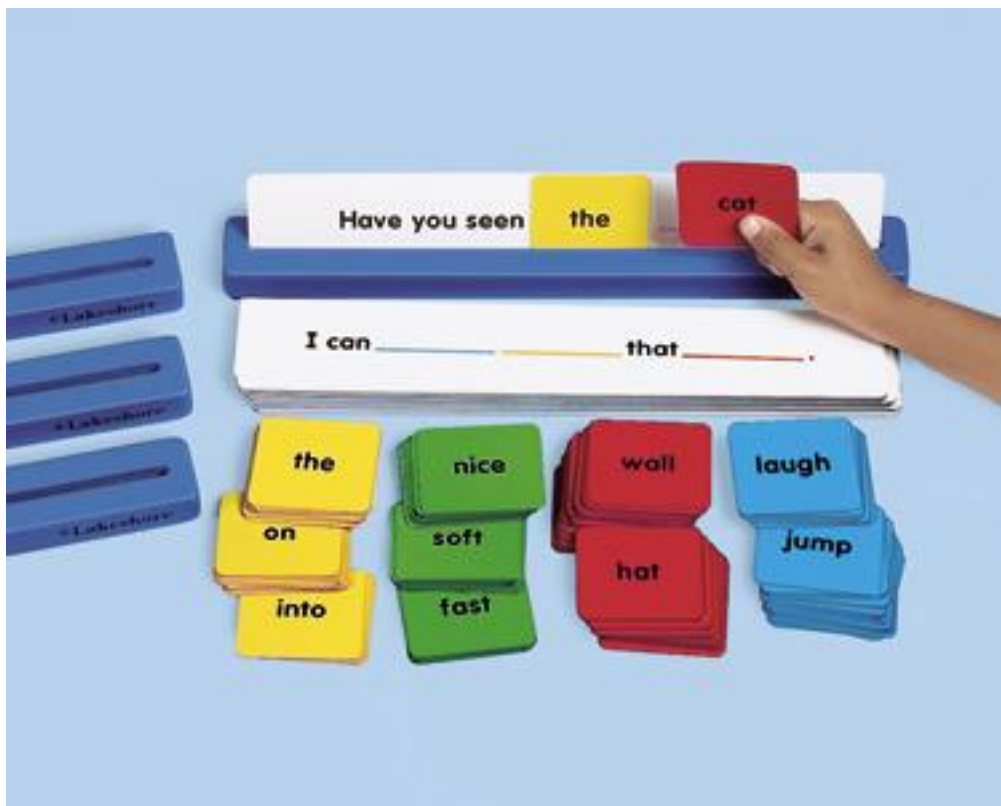

Table of Contents

1	Chapter-1 Sentence Building	5
	1.1 Part of Speech	6
	1.2 Components of a Sentence	13
	1.3 Connectors	17
	Punctuation and Capitalization Rules	26
	Editing Exercises	27
2	Chapter-2 Prewriting	29
	2.1 Brainstorming	30
	2.2 Clustering	31
	Clustering Exercises	32
	Editing Exercises	39
3	Chapter-3 Ways Paragraphs	42
	Model Paragraphs	44
	Paragraph Exercises	51
	Editing Exercises	57
	Process Writing Information	62
4	Chapter-4 Advantages or Disadvantages Paragraphs	70
	Model Paragraphs	72
	Paragraph Exercises	79
	Editing Exercises	84
5	Chapter-5 Reasons Paragraphs	87
	Model Paragraphs	89
	Paragraph Exercises	96
	Editing Exercises	102

This page is intentionally left blank.

CHAPTER – 1

SENTENCE BUILDING

1.1 PART OF SPEECH

1.1.1 NOUNS

A NOUN functions as the name of a person or animal, a place, a thing, or idea and quality.

Person or Animal	teacher, Mary, dog, Canadians
Place	office, Antalya, house
Thing	pen, shirt, telephone, suitcase, car
Idea or Quality	love, success, happiness, loyalty, honesty

Nouns can be classified as common or proper. Proper nouns name specific people, places, or things. Proper nouns will always begin with CAPITAL letters.

I saw a woman yesterday. (Woman is a common noun)

I saw Mrs. Smith. (Mrs. Smith is a proper noun that begins with capital letters – ‘M’ and ‘S’)

a city	London
a teacher	Mr. Brown
days	Monday and Tuesday
languages	English and Japanese

Writers need to think about noun phrases in addition to simple nouns. A noun phrase includes the main noun and some words that describe it.

Students (noun)

Teachers with books (a noun phrase)

Noun + Description

Note: Pronouns (I, you, he, she, it, we, and they) are words that replace nouns, and are used in the same way.

1.1.2 VERBS

A VERB is a word that expresses action or a state of being. Run, write, go, swim, wash and dive are ACTION VERBS that can be observed. Forget, think, remember, know, need, want are the STATE VERBS that express a state of being.

In addition, a LINKING VERB can also express existence. They do not express an action. They serve a link between two words. I am sad. 'I' is a noun, 'am' - is an existence verb that links the noun 'I' and the adjective 'sad'.

More examples:

The children are sleepy.

They are in the bedroom.

There are HELPING (AUXILIARY) VERBS that support a main verb to help express an idea or occurrence.

Matthew and Harry are doing their homework. 'are' is the helping verb, 'doing' is the main verb.

Helping verbs differ from linking verbs because linking verbs join the subject with the rest of the sentence. Helping verbs require other verbs to be present.

1.1.3 ADJECTIVES

An ADJECTIVE is a word that describes a noun or a pronoun. There are different types of adjectives. They all give information about a person, a place, or a thing. When an adjective and a noun are together, the adjective comes first.

Type of Adjective	Adjectives	Examples in Sentence
Descriptive Adjectives	black, sad, good, small, hot, difficult, beautiful	I like black shirts. Andy wants to buy an expensive house.
Possessive Adjectives	my, your, his, her, its, our, their	My brother is living in Istanbul.
Demonstrative Adjectives	this, that, these, those	This student is from Brazil.
Quantity Adjectives	a little, three, six, many	Many people live in big cities.
Nouns as Adjectives	all nouns	I'd like to have a chicken sandwich.
Articles	a, an, the	There is a glass on the table.

1.1.4 ADVERBS

An ADVERB is a word that adds more information to a sentence, a verb, or an adjective. There are five main kinds of adverbs: place, time, manner, frequency, and degree. Each kind of adverb has a different role in a sentence.

1-Adverbs of place (where)	here, there, at home, in the office
2-Adverbs of time (when)	now, yesterday, at 3 o'clock, at night
3-Adverbs of manner (how)	quickly, slowly, carefully, fast, well
4-Adverbs of frequency (how often)	always, usually, often, sometimes, never
5-Adverbs of degree (how much)	extremely, too, so, very

- 1- I usually arrive home at 7 o'clock.
- 2- My father sometimes drives fast when he is in a hurry.
- 3- My brother is extremely shy. He can't communicate very well.

Exercise- 1: Parts of Speech

A. Underline the nouns in each sentence. There may be more than one noun in each sentence.

e.g. Terry told his friends many secrets.

Nouns: Terry, friends, secrets

1. His success made his parents happy.
2. Cows give us milk.
3. The train has just left the station.
4. Paris is the capital of France.
5. Our family spent the holiday in London.
6. Do you drink coffee with milk and sugar?
7. Lead is softer than iron.
8. What's more important, health or wealth?
9. A swarm of rabbits ran out of the forest.
10. My brother had a toothache last week.

B. Underline the verbs in each sentence.

1. After the rain had stopped, the children went out to the playground.
2. My sister enjoys listening to classical music.
3. We will visit the museum tomorrow.
4. Who has finished doing the exercise?
5. The tiger was shot by the hunter.
6. The train is leaving soon.
7. Snakes are found in Sai Kung.
8. John occupies a very important position in the company.
9. I was bathing when the telephone rang.
10. That is the woman who knows my parents.

C. Underline the adjectives in each sentence. There may be more than one in each sentence.

e.g. He is a hard-working student.

adjective: hard-working

1. These apples are sweet but expensive.
2. Whose umbrella is this?
3. There is some milk in the refrigerator.
4. Tai Mo Shan is the highest mountain in Hong Kong.
5. We have not got any mango trees in our garden.
6. Which dress do you like, the blue one or the red one?
7. Peter is fatter than Maurice.
8. It is dangerous for children to play with matches.
9. This book is very interesting. Have you read it?
10. Alan is an honest boy.

D. Underline the adverbs in each sentence.

1. The little girl smiled sweetly at me yesterday.
2. Please hang the wet clothes here.
3. The chairman seldom arrives on time.
4. You must spend your money more wisely.
5. It is raining heavily. You must drive carefully.
6. He shouted at the dog that was barking noisily.
7. Jane spoke the least throughout the meeting.
8. You must work hard if you want to pass the examination.
9. Have you ever visited Thailand?
10. The box is too heavy for him to carry.

1.1.5 PREPOSITIONS

A PREPOSITION is a word that shows the relationship between a noun and other words in the sentence. A prepositional phrase is a preposition and its noun (or pronoun) object.

in the house
prep + object

before midnight
prep + object

at 8 o'clock
prep + object

Prepositions often answer where, when, or how.

Where	They are waiting in front of the school.
When	We are leaving on Tuesday .
How	He goes to university by train .

It is important to know the prepositions given below in the chart!

In	We live in Antalya. (PLACE) We leave early in the morning. (TIME)
On	Please put the books on the desk. (PLACE) We work on Saturdays. (TIME)
At	I study at Şehir University. (PLACE) We start class at 9 o'clock. (TIME)
Of	Can you tell me the number of the classroom, please!
To	Why don't we go to Bodrum?
With	Sarah is playing with her friends.
From	They are from Turkey.
between	Üsküdar is between Kadıköy and Beykoz.
Under	What is that paper under your desk?
Near	Capitol is near Şehir University.
Without	Marshall cannot live without his laptop.
About	The book is about the Ottoman Empire.

Exercise-2: Prepositions

A. Fill in the blanks with at, on, in, from, or of.

e.g. A party will be held on Christmas Eve.

1. My sister was born _____ April 22, 1978.
2. Singapore is a country _____ Asia.
3. There are many wild animals _____ the jungle nearby.
4. We will meet our uncle _____ the station.
5. John was absent _____ school yesterday.
6. All _____ the students have handed in their homework.
7. The patient is suffering _____ lung cancer.
8. I often get up late _____ Sunday morning.
9. Mary spent her holiday _____ the seaside last summer.
10. Most universities provide courses _____ information technology.

11. His parents do not allow him to go out _____ midnight.
12. Mr. Chan will arrive _____ Saturday afternoon.
13. Tim is a good friend _____ mine.
14. Some wine is made _____ wine.
15. My father will return home _____ Toronto this Friday.
16. A continent is a very big area _____ land.
17. The accident happened _____ 1969.
18. Alan usually goes to bed _____ ten.
19. There are many benches _____ the park.
20. Her office is _____ the second floor.

B. Put in the correct preposition (at, in, on, or no preposition):

1. Lucy is arriving ____ February the 13th ____ 8 o'clock ____ the morning.
2. The weather is often terrible in London ____ January.
3. It's better to get a taxi if you are out alone ____ night.
4. She got married ____ September.
5. They usually go to the south of France ____ the summer.
6. Columbus sailed to the Americas ____ the 16th century.
7. The Beatles were popular ____ the 1960s.
8. I graduated from university ____ 2001.
9. His birthday is ____ June.
10. I usually go to my parents' house ____ Christmas. We eat turkey together ____ Christmas Day.
11. The train leaves ____ tomorrow morning ____ 8:00 AM.
12. I love going skiing ____ January.
13. We met at the restaurant ____ 8 pm.
14. The class is ____ 9am ____ Monday mornings.
15. I like to drink coffee ____ the morning and tea ____ the afternoon.
16. We went out for dinner ____ last Wednesday.
17. She left London ____ the 4th of March.
18. I had a party ____ my birthday.
19. Lucy went to New York ____ New Year's Eve.
20. We're meeting ____ lunchtime ____ next Tuesday.

1.2 COMPONENTS OF A SENTENCE

- A SENTENCE is a group of words that has a subject, a verb, and expresses a complete thought. A sentence begins with a capital letter and ends with a period (.), a question mark (?), or an exclamation mark (!).

A simple sentence structure (i.e. the shape of the sentence) is often like this:

Edison invented the light bulb.

subject verb object

That's what we call a simple sentence. It is a sentence because it is a complete idea.

We could also call this type of sentence, a clause sentence.

Always make sure your sentence has a subject and a verb.

1.2.1 SUBJECT

- The SUBJECT of a sentence tells who or what does something. The subject can be a noun or a pronoun.

Max and William play football. They have a match on Sundays.

Subject → Noun

Subject → Pronoun

1.2.2 VERB

In addition to the information given in Section 1.1.2 above, another important thing about VERBS is that not every verb takes an object. An object (further info in the following section) completes the meaning of the verb, but not every verb needs completion.

James saw yesterday.

This sentence is incomplete. Something is missing. What did James see yesterday? In order to complete the idea, we should add an object:

James saw Jessica yesterday.

Now the idea is complete. The verbs that we use with an object are called transitive verbs. Examples are wash, eat, break, make, see, write, draw, kill, etc.

However, there are some other verbs that do not require an object. Without an object, the idea can be complete. These verbs are called intransitive verbs. For example, stand, die, sneeze, run, swim, happen, arrive, sleep, etc.

I regularly swim every weekend.

My grandmother died last week.

1.2.3 OBJECT

An OBJECT is the thing or person after the main verb. The object:

- usually receives the action of the verb
- can be a noun or a pronoun
- can be two or more nouns / pronouns

Two types of objects follow verbs: direct objects and indirect object.

1.2.3.1 Direct Object

A DIRECT OBJECT is a person or thing that the action of the verb affects.

Emma drank the water.

The water changes (disappears) because of the action. So the water is the direct object. The subject does the action to the direct object.

You can ask two questions:

Who drank the water? (question asks for the subject)

What did Emma drink? (question asks about the direct object)

1.2.3.2 Indirect Object

An INDIRECT OBJECT is a person or thing that the subject does the action TO or FOR.

Josh gave the bag to Penny.

A: To whom did Josh give the bag?

B: Penny (indirect object).

A: What did Josh give Penny?

B: The bag (direct object)

1.2.3.3 The Object of the Preposition

The object of the preposition is the noun or pronoun part of the prepositional phrase.

I live in Trabzon.

We cannot play tennis on Saturday.

Alan is waiting for her.

If we do not use a noun or pronoun as an object after the preposition, the statement cannot be a complete sentence.

- I work in.
- I work in an office.

Exercise-3: Rearrange the words in correct order to make complete sentences.

e.g. the fat cat / a mouse / is chasing.
The fat cat is chasing a mouse.

1. milk now / that thin girl / is drinking

2. the robbers yesterday / the police / caught

3. our teacher / like / we

4. my mother / my baby sister / is looking after

5. has just written / a letter / the tall man

6. the students / have solved / some Mathematics problems

7. her aunt tomorrow / will visit / Mary

8. newspapers every day / my boss / reads

9. enjoyed / the movie / the audience

10. the cook / some chocolate cakes / has made

Exercise-4: There are ten verbs in the box below. Use each one to make a sentence of your own. Underline the verb, subject and object in each sentence, in different colours. (Hint! Not all of your sentences will include an object!)

jump	Fly	speak	drive	catch hit	Throw	give	buy	smell

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

6.

7.

8.

9.

10.

1.3 CONNECTORS

You can improve your writing by connecting two pieces of information into one sentence by using connectors.

The most common ones are and, or, and but.

and joins two or more similar things in positive sentences.

- The Smiths and Reeds go to the movies together every Friday and Sunday.
- Lara and Carol visit their grandma every evening and help her with her cooking.

or connects two or more similar things in negative sentences.

- I don't like tea or coffee.
- Pablo doesn't speak Chinese or Spanish. He is from France.

or also connects two or more choices or alternatives.

- Sheila often goes to work on foot or by bus.
- We can stay at home or go out.

but connects contrasting (opposite) ideas/clauses in compound sentences.

- He is not very sociable, but he is very successful.
- Istanbul may not be easy to live in, but it is very beautiful.

1.3.1 Compound Sentences

We have a compound sentence when we take two simple sentences, also called independent clauses, and link them with coordinating conjunctions (cc). The most common coordinating conjunctions are:

and

but

or

Paul has two older brothers, and Ellie has two younger sisters.

S V

cc S V

Independent Clause

CC Independent Clause

You can eat your candy now, or you can wait until later.

S V

cc S V

Independent Clause

CC Independent Clause

I have the coffee, but John has the sugar.

S V

CC S V

Independent Clause CC Independent Clause

Exercise-5: Combine the two sentences in each pair to make one sentence. Use and, or, but according to the meaning.

1. The children enjoy going to the cinema. They like eating ice cream, too.
_The children enjoy going to the cinema and eating ice cream.
2. We have two options. The first one is eating pizza. The other one is eating spaghetti.

3. Karen cleans the house every Sunday. She couldn't clean it last Sunday.

4. Michael has always been an angry person. He is also very stubborn.

Exercise-6: Complete the text with and, but, or.

I get up at half past eight in the morning. I'm hungry there isn't any food in the kitchen. I want milk, cereals orange juice. Then, I go to the shop when I get there it's still closed. I go back home and into the kitchen. There's some grapefruit juice and brown bread. I don't like grapefruit juice brown bread! This is not a good morning, so I go back to bed until the shop opens.

More Coordinating Conjunctions

- SO – HOWEVER – BECAUSE

- 'So' is used to connect two independent clauses that show reason and result.

He goes to bed very late, so he always wakes up late.

Dependent clause
Reason

Dependent clause
Result

- 'However' is used to connect two independent clauses that show contrast (opposite).

Damian is a good-spirited boy; however, lots of people dislike him.

Dependent clause

Dependent clause

She feels very tired because she went running for two hours.

Because I really wanted to meet her, I waited for her for two hours.

Notice the comma after the first clause when you begin a sentence with 'because'

Exercise-7: Create your own compound sentences on the lines below by combining a sentence from column A with one from column B and connecting them with and, so, because, but, however. You can use sentences more than once.

A

Jan went to the carnival.

Jan wanted to ride the roller coaster.

Jan tried to win a stuffed bear.

Jan started to get hungry.

Jan couldn't take another ride.

B

She didn't have enough money.

She didn't stay for long.

It started to rain.

She had to be at home on time.

She stood in a long line.

She had a great time.

She bought a hot dog.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

Exercise-8: Complete the sentences below with so, however or because and punctuate correctly.

1. He always speaks on the phone _____ he has a girlfriend.

2. _____ Jane is very careless, her mother doesn't let her drive.

3. Susan needed money to travel, _____ she worked after school.

4. Gemma had all the qualifications; _____, she didn't get the job.

5. She smokes and drinks a lot, _____ she is very sick.

Exercise-9:

A. Complete with and, but, or, so, because.

1. We aren't going to the park it's raining.
2. I don't have any money, I'll go to the bank.
3. She doesn't like vegetables fish.
4. I need milk, butter bread.
5. There's snow on the street it's not too cold.
6. She studies a lot she never passes the exams.
7. You've got an exam tomorrow, you must study tonight.
8. I don't go to the cinema I haven't got any money.

B. Correct the underlined word using and, but, or, so, because, however.

1. We don't go to the beach but it's cold.
2. They don't like meat and fish.
3. It's winter because I'm not cold.
4. It's raining, or take your umbrella!.

C. Put the words in order.

1. accident / an / she's / in / because / hospital / she / had.
.....
2. but / they / many / work / don't / hours / they / have / money / much.
.....
3. asked / Paul / me / question, / a / replied / I / so.
.....
4. buy / I / peppers / potatoes. / and / tomatoes,
.....

1.3.2 Complex Sentences

The third kind of sentence you need to learn is called: complex sentences.

We saw how a simple sentence contains 1 independent clause and how a compound sentence is made up of 2 independent clauses, joined by a coordinating conjunction (and, or, but, so yet, because). A complex sentence combines an independent clause and a dependent clause. Look at this sentence.

Mitch arrived after Carl left the party.

Independent Clause

Dependent Clause

A dependent clause has a subject and a verb, but it isn't a complete sentence. It cannot stand alone; it must be connected to an independent clause. Look at this sentence.

After she cleaned the house, Rose slept for two hours.

Dependent clause

Independent Clause

- 'After she cleaned the house.' – This is not a complete sentence so it is called a dependent clause. An independent clause is needed to finish the sentence.

Notice that there is a comma after the dependent clause. This sentence can also be written with the dependent clause after the independent clause without changing the meaning.

Rose slept for two hours after she cleaned the house.

Independent Clause

Dependent clause

When this happens, there is no comma (As can be seen in the example above 'Mitch arrived after Carl left the party').

The dependent clauses in the above sentences begin with after. After is an example of a subordinating conjunction. All dependent clauses of time begin with a subordinating conjunction. There are many subordinating conjunctions. Here are some common ones for narrative paragraphs:

after

before

until

Look at the following examples:

Until you do your homework, you can't watch TV.

You can't watch TV until you do your homework.

Before I was married, I was skinny.

I was well prepared before the job interview.

Exercise-10: Put the following jumbled words in order to make complex sentences.

1- cleaned / parents / his / He / before / arrived / the / . / house

2- month / exam / he / the / every / . / until / He / took / passed

3- football / he / After / , / he / party / played / to / . / went / a Exercise-11: Combine the sentences with the given conjunctions to make complex sentences.

1. It was raining outside. We went for a walk. (when)

2. Kyle learned playing golf extremely well. He took a lot of courses. (after)

3. Cindy and David had breakfast. They left for work. (before)

4. I usually work out at home early in the morning. I leave for work at eight a.m. (until)

5. Sometimes we have a lot of rain. I put the chairs in the garage then. (when)

Exercise-12: Complete the sentences in a meaningful way and punctuate correctly.

Example: Sean is not very handsome; however, he is a model.

1. (although)

I went for a walk _____

2. (moreover)

The mall was too busy _____

3. (in addition)

The car is very fast _____

4. (even though)

I listened to the teacher

5. (therefore)

England has good quality language schools

Exercise-13: Use subordinating conjunctions (after, before, until, when, because, etc.) to connect the sentences into one complex sentence.

1. Henry needs to learn English. I will teach him.

_____.

2. It was raining outside. We went for a walk.

_____.

3. Penny played golf extremely well. She was very young.

_____.

4. Franklin wants to get a new job. He is preparing for job interviews.

_____.

5. Cindy and David have breakfast. They leave for work.

_____.

6. I really enjoyed the concert. The music was too loud.

_____.

7. I usually work out at the gym early in the morning. I leave for work at eight a.m.

_____.

Study the table below carefully, paying close attention to both meaning and punctuation, then answer the questions below it.

BASIC CONJUNCTION	These are in the same meaning with the basic conjunction	SAMPLE SENTENCE and	Besides that Furthermore Moreover In addition Also	Public transportation is very fast. Moreover / Besides that / In addition / Furthermore / Also , it is cheaper than a car. Learning English is important for education; furthermore/ besides that/ in addition , it gives more opportunities to find a job. You shouldn't speak on your mobile phone while driving. Also , you shouldn't send messages.
but	However Although/ Even though	Although/ Even though he studied hard, he failed the exam. He got home early although/ even though there was a lot of traffic. She gave her homework to the teacher; however , it was too late.
so	Therefore Thus	She didn't have the necessary qualifications; therefore , she couldn't get the job. She loves books, thus she chose to be a librarian.

Punctuation and Capitalization Rules in English

- The first word in a sentence is always capitalized.

Example: The wedding lasts for several days.

- A complete sentence can end in a period/ full stop.

E.g.: A good speech begins with a joke.

- A question ends with a question mark.

E.g.: Do you enjoy learning about the world?

- Occasionally, writers use an exclamation mark to give emphasis to a sentence.

E.g.: I looked down and saw a giant cobra sliding across my foot!

- Put a comma after transition signals and prepositional phrases at the beginning of a sentence.

E.g.: First, you should call a doctor.

- Put a comma before coordinating conjunctions in a compound sentence.

E.g.: Many students work, so they don't have time to do homework.

- Put a comma in a complex sentence when a dependent clause comes before an independent clause.

E.g.: Because Istanbul is too crowded, some people don't choose to live there.

- Put a comma to separate items in a series. Use 'and' before the last item.

E.g.: In our class there are students from Syria, Palestine, and Saudi Arabia.

- When you type on a computer, always leave one space after all punctuation symbols.

Ex: Wrong → My sister, my brother and my mother went to the cinema. I didn't.

Correct → My sister, my brother and my mother went to the cinema. I didn't.

EDITING EXERCISE – 1: Read the quiz about food. Find and correct eight mistakes in the use of subject and object questions. Then do the quiz and read the score analyses to learn if you are a foodie or not.

Are You a 'Foodie'?

A 'foodie' is someone who loves food and is an expert on food.

1. What people used as money in sixteenth century Sweden?
a) tomatoes
b) chocolate
c) cheese
2. Who does eat frogs' legs as a special dish?
a) the French
b) the Chinese
c) the Australians
3. Egyptian slaves went on strike and stopped building the pyramids. What not they have enough?
a) garlic
b) peppers
c) cinnamon
4. Who did invent tomato ketchup?
a) the Americans
b) the Spanish
c) the Canadians
5. What people wrapped around some Indian sweets?
a) flour and water
b) gold and silver
c) paper and plastic
6. What does originally comes from Italy?
a) garlic bread
b) pizza
c) Caesar salad
7. What celebrate people in July in the United States?
a) National Pancake Day
b) National Chocolate Cake Day
c) National Ice Cream Day
8. What is the main food for over half the world's population?
a) potatoes
b) rice
c) bread
9. Who eat cheese the most in the world?
a) the Danish
b) the Germans
c) the French

ADD UP YOUR SCORE

Answers: 1c 2a 3a 4b 5b 6b 7c 8c 9a

Less than 4 points: We won't mince words – that was terrible. You'll never be a 'foodie'.

4-6 points: Not bad, but we are afraid you need to study more to become a true 'foodie'.

7-9 points: Well done. When it comes to food, you know a lot.

This page is intentionally left blank.

CHAPTER – 2

PREWRITING

All good writers first think and plan before they start writing. This is important because it helps you find and organize good ideas. There are many useful prewriting strategies, but the most frequently used ones are brainstorming and clustering.

2.1 Brainstorming

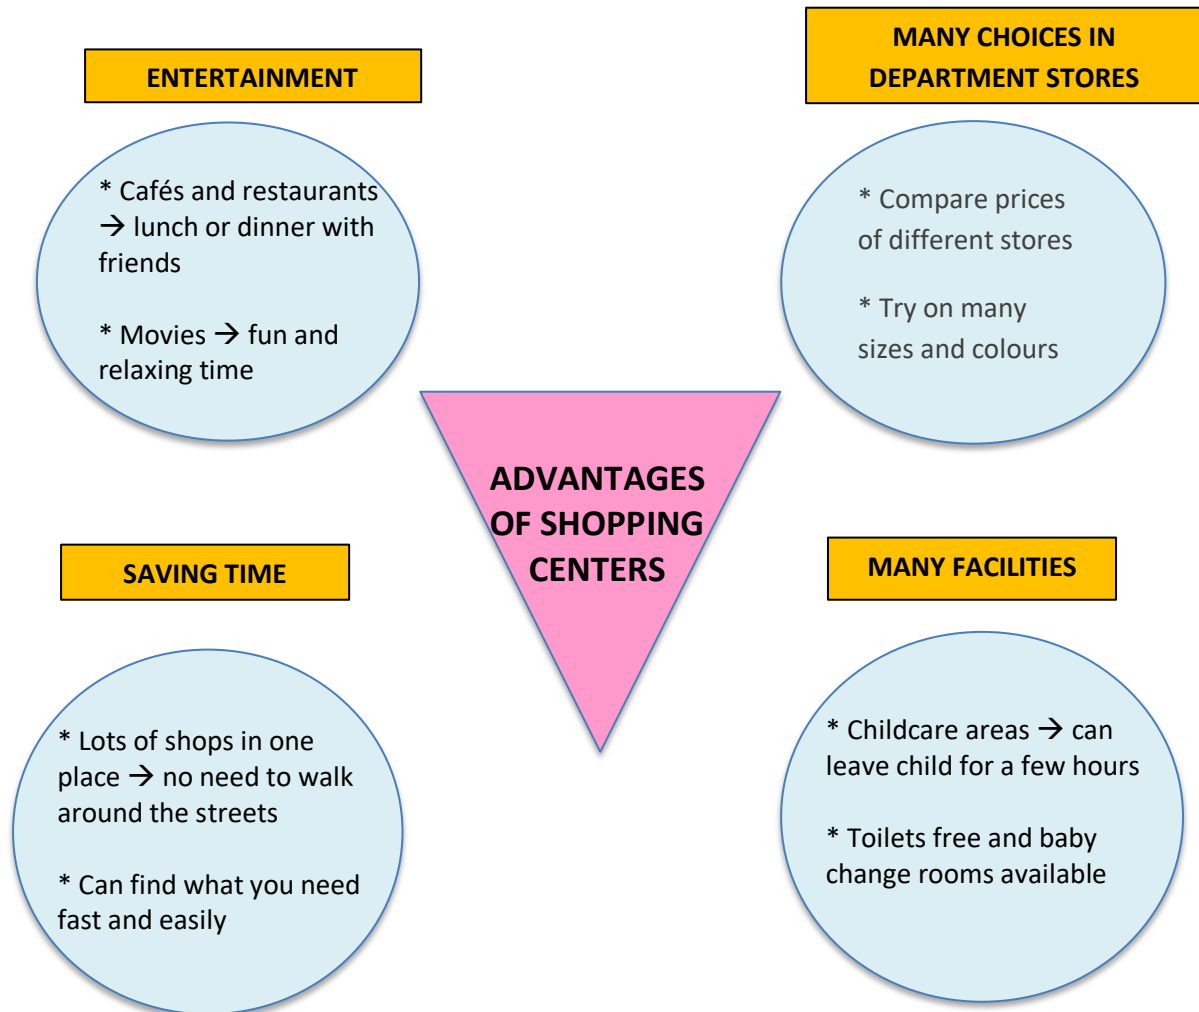

Brainstorming is a process of producing a lot of information within a short time by capturing all of the thoughts, ideas, and fragments in your head about the topic given and writing them down on paper. Consider the topic & the brainstorming below as an example.

ADVANTAGES OF SHOPPING CENTERS

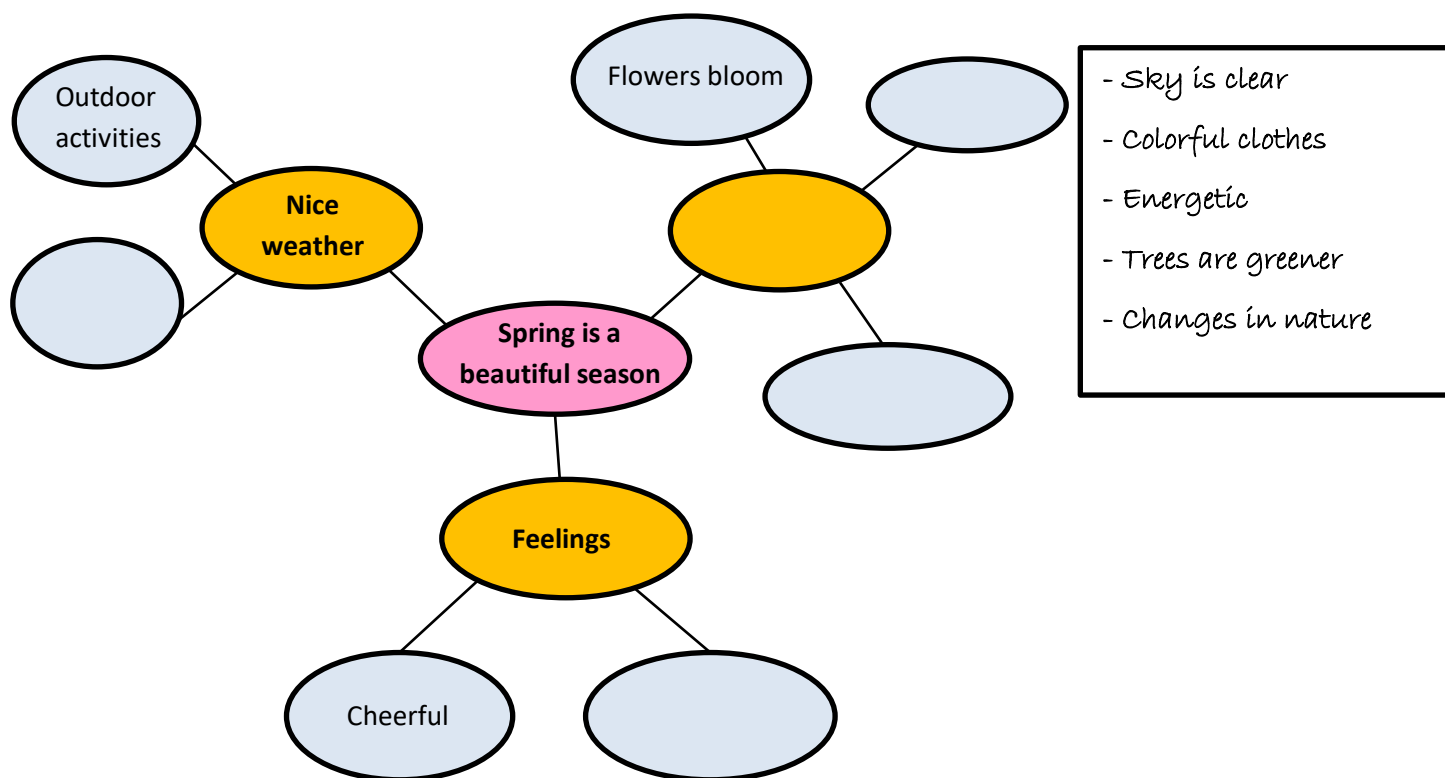

- Go to the movies
- Meet new people
- Eat at restaurants
- Find everything fast and easily
- Have coffee at cafés
- Compare prices of different stores
- Try on many sizes and colours of clothing or shoes
- Can shop in a warm environment in winter
- Can shop in a cool environment in summer
- Don't have to walk around the streets to find something
- Many different special offers
- Walk around and do exercise
- Don't have to spend money
- Lots of parking spaces
- Childcare areas
- Often not very crowded
- Toilets free and easy to access
- Baby change rooms

2.2 Clustering

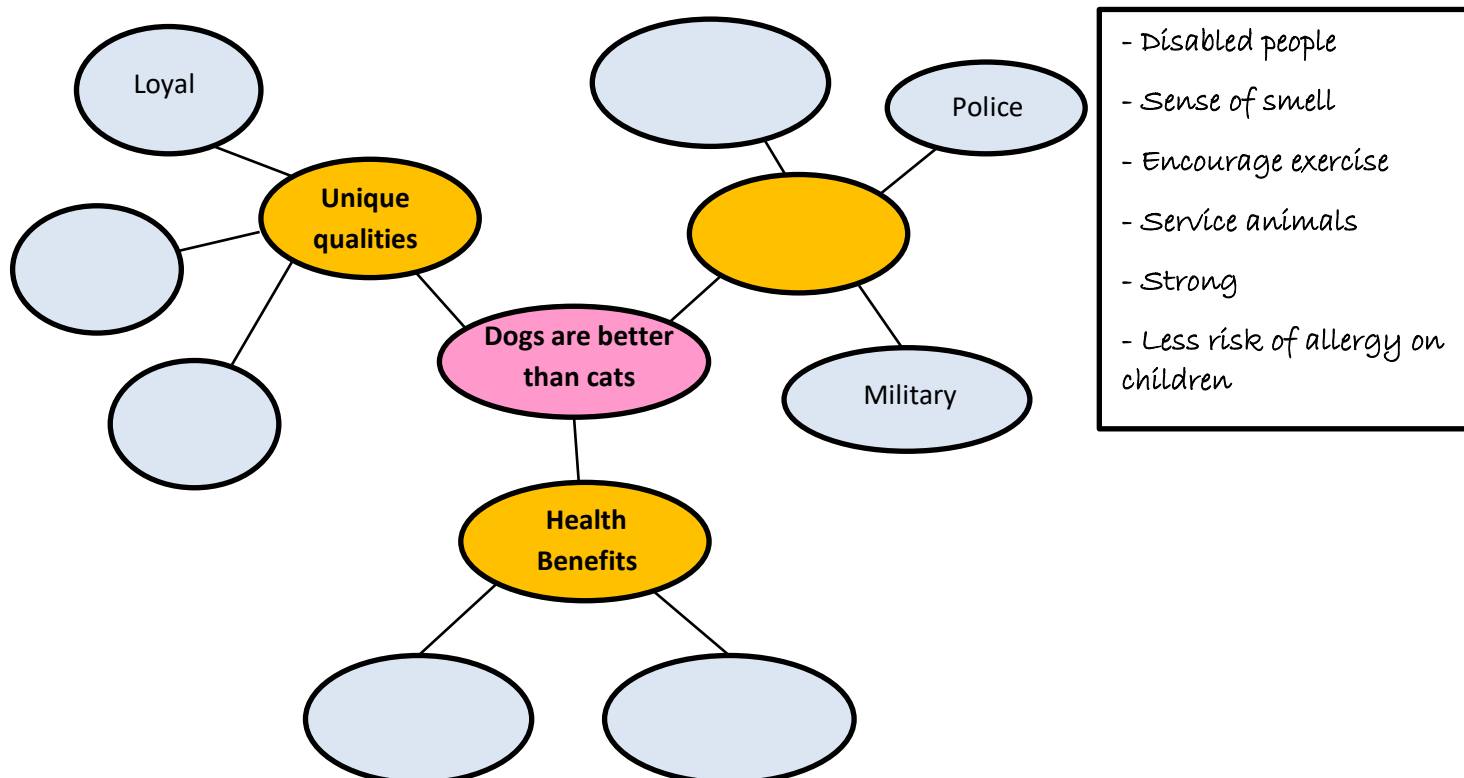

Clustering is a technique that helps people map out their thinking with the help of circles and lines to show branches of their ideas as subtopics. They simply connect related ideas and group them into categories to organize themselves. Consider the topic & the brainstorming above and the clustering of those ideas below.

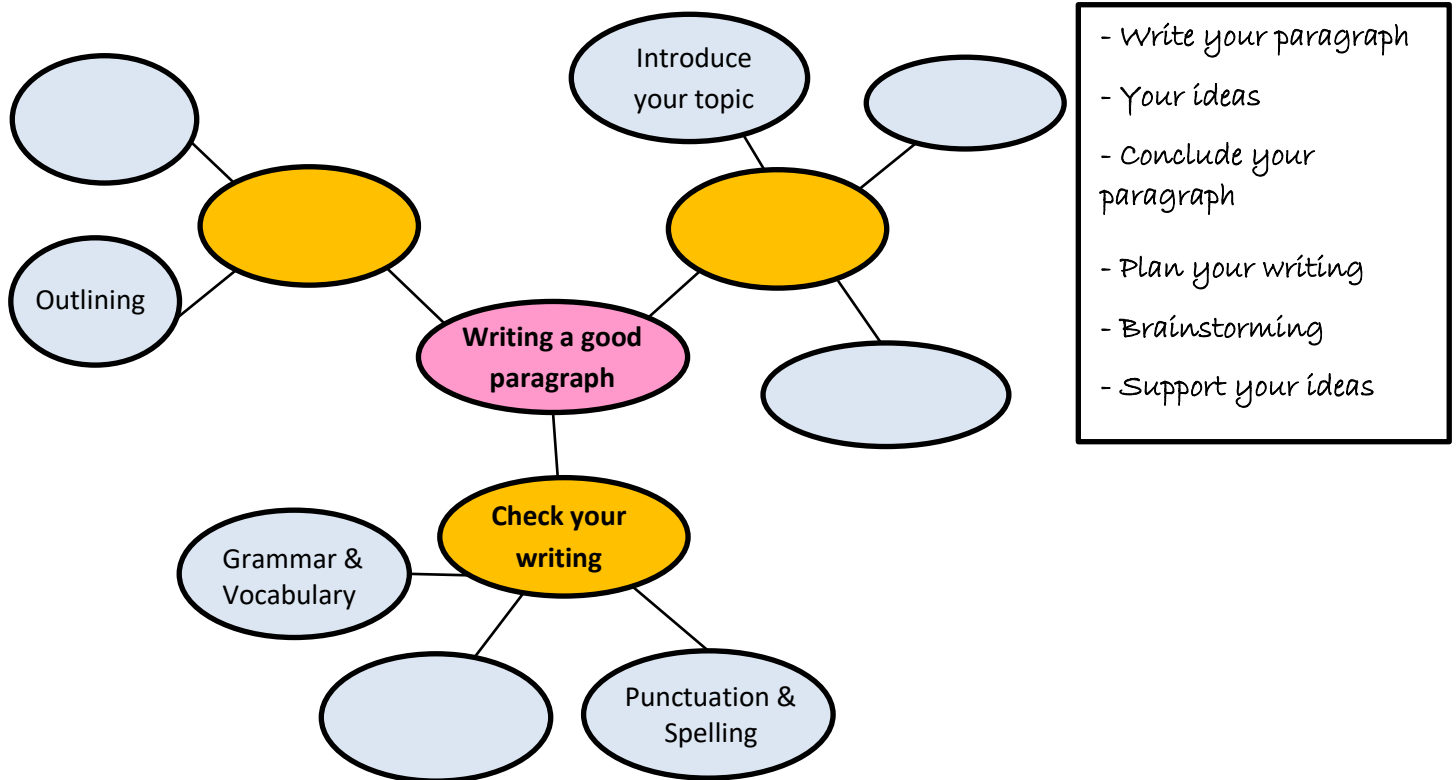

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 1: Look at the example of a cluster diagram on the topic of spring. Complete the missing parts with the supporting ideas and supporting details on the list.

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 2: Look at the example of a cluster diagram on the topic about why dogs are better pets. Complete the missing parts with the supporting ideas and supporting details on the list.

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 3: Look at the example of a cluster diagram on the topic of writing a good paragraph. Complete the missing parts with the supporting ideas and supporting details on the list.

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 4: COORDINATING SUPPORTING IDEAS

Read the following sentences. First, determine which sentence is the topic sentence and write TS next to it. Second, decide which sentences are supporting sentences and write SS next to them. Finally, decide which sentence is unrelated and write U next to it.

1. _____ a. They can ask questions of their instructors by email.
- _____ b. They can edit their papers easily by deleting their errors and typing new words or sentences.
- _____ c. Computers have made students' lives easier.
- _____ d. They can form study groups and discuss topics in the library.
- _____ e. They can research information on the Internet.

2. _____ a. Shopping online is more advantageous than traditional shopping.
_____ b. You can shop online at any time of the day.
_____ c. You can compare prices at several stores when shopping online.
_____ d. You cannot touch the fabric of the clothes you order.
_____ e. Since you don't have to leave your house, you'll save on gas and time.
3. _____ a. Reading improves vocabulary.
_____ b. It is difficult to learn a new language.
_____ c. Reading helps people learn sentence patterns.
_____ d. Reading is an important way to practice a new language.
_____ e. Reading shows you real English.
4. _____ a. Mothers exercise more to stay healthy for their babies.
_____ b. Mothers become more patient with the birth of their babies.
_____ c. Mothers have to carry their babies in their arms until their babies sleep.
_____ d. Sometimes they have to spend hours trying to feed their babies.
_____ e. Mothers can leave their babies with a babysitter and go out with their husbands.
5. _____ a. There are many clubs and organizations that students can join.
_____ b. Universities try to help students financially.
_____ c. Universities offer a lot of opportunities to students.
_____ d. Students cannot balance their social lives and studies because they have a busy program.
_____ e. Universities have career counselling centers that offer advice and workshops for students.

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 5: Write the topics for the related supporting ideas.

Benefits of higher education

Things to consider when you choose a university

Nursing is an excellent career

Advantages of visiting foreign countries

1. Topic: _____

- Have an opportunity to help people
- Find interesting jobs in all areas of health care
- Earn good salary
- Have flexible work schedules

2. Topic: _____

- Have more job opportunities
- Earn higher salary
- Gain prestige
- Learn valuable information

3. Topic: _____

- Meet new people
- Eat different kinds of food
- See the way that other people live
- Learn about other cultures

4. Topic: _____

- Cost of attending school
- Location of the school
- Quality of education
- Number of students

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 6: Look at the following topics and details in the brainstorming part. Write the related details under the supporting ideas.

A. Topic: There are many ways to sell dolls.

- Beautiful and young
- Making children happy
- Product placement in TV series
- Lots of clothes and accessories
- TV commercials
- Birthday gift
- Educational aspects
- Ideal body type

Supporting Ideas:

1. Image

2. Media advertisements

3. Target consumers

B. Topic: There are several advantages of prisons.

- Peaceful environment
- Foreign language
- Reform behaviors
- Career training
- Stops reoffending¹
- Learn from mistakes
- Reading and writing
- Safer community

Supporting Ideas:

1. Benefits for the society

2. Personal benefits

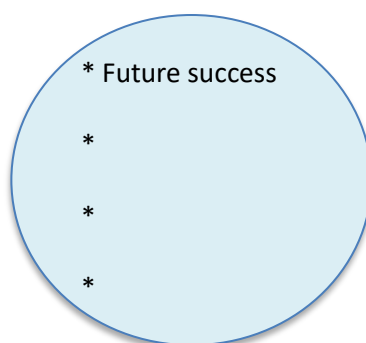

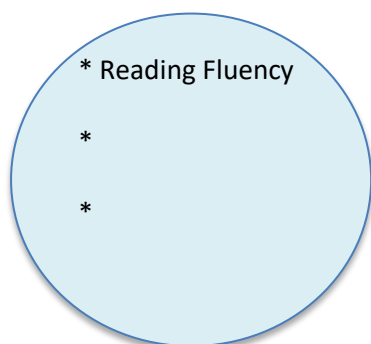

3. Educational benefits

¹to reoffend: to commit a crime again

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 7: Add more ideas given below and group those ideas into three categories. Please do not use the ideas that don't fit into any categories or are unnecessary.

THE REASONS FOR CHILDREN TO READ BOOKS

- Future success
- Develops _____
- Improves reading fluency
- Social skills
- Helps build independence and _____
- _____
- Helps children understand the world around them
- _____
- _____
- Teaches _____ and sentence structure
- Exercises the brain
- Develops empathy
- Broadens children's _____
- Improves concentration

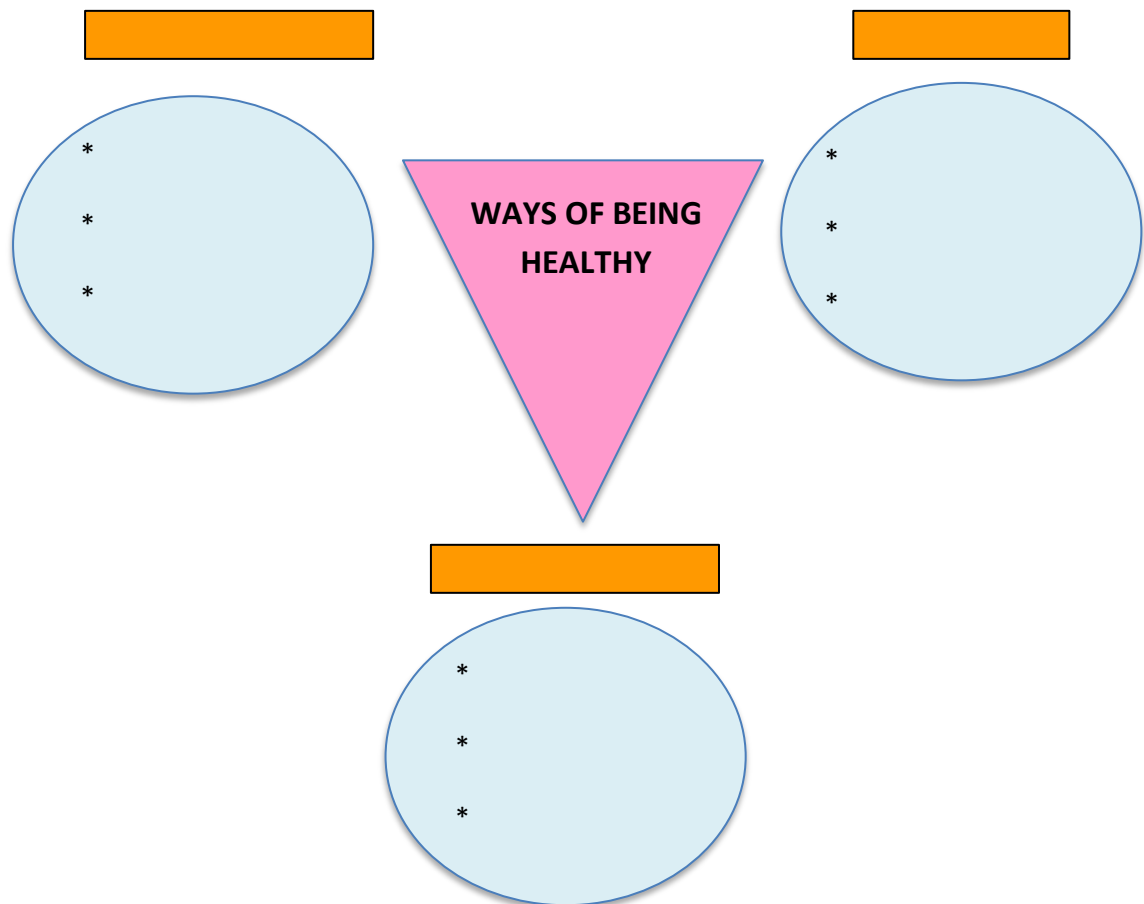

CLUSTERING EXERCISE – 8: Brainstorm about the topic given below and group your ideas into three categories. Please do not use the ideas that don't fit into any categories or are unnecessary.

WAYS OF BEING HEALTHY

- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____
- _____

EDITING EXERCISE – 1: Read this student’s blog entry. Find and correct eleven mistakes with the present simple and present continuous.

It’s 12:30 and I sit in the library right now. My classmates are having lunch together, but I don’t feel hungry yet. At home, we eat never this early. Today, our journal topic is culture shock (the strange feelings you have when you visit a foreign country for the first time). It’s a good topic for me right now because I’m being pretty homesick. I miss speaking my native language with my friends. And I miss my old routine. At home, we always are eating a big meal at 2:00 in the afternoon. Then we rest. But here in Toronto, I’m having a 3:00 conversation class. Every day, I almost fall asleep in class, and my teacher ask me, “Are you bored?” Of course I’m not bored. I just need my afternoon nap! This class always is fun. This semester, we work on a project with videos. My team is filming groups of people from different cultures at social events. We are analyze “personal space”. That is meaning how close to each other these people stand. According to my new watch, it’s 12:55, and I have a 1:00 class. That’s all for now. Teachers here really aren’t liking lateness!

EDITING EXERCISE – 2: Read the conversation about the World Cup in South Africa. Find and correct five mistakes in the use of relative clauses.

Neville: I’m reading an article about the World Cup that took place in South Africa in 2010. We watched some of it on TV. Do you remember?

Cindy: Oh, yes. Almost everyone who did watch the games had one of those awful musical instruments that made a terrible noise.

Neville: Well, I suppose the people had a good time who were using them. Anyway, this article is all about things that have happened since the competition.

Cindy: And what does the writer say?

Neville: She says it was an event which brought the South African people together. The people which thought it would be a big waste of money were completely wrong. Researchers interviewed people during and after the competition. Tourists came to South Africa for the World Cup were very impressed, and most South Africans that they spoke to the researchers were very proud of the way their country organized the Cup.

EDITING EXERCISE – 3: Read this student’s journal. Find and correct ten mistakes with the simple past.

Today in class, we read a poem by the American poet Robert Frost. I really enjoy it. It was about a person who choosed between two roads in a forest. Many people believed the person were Frost. He thinked about his choice for a long time. The roads not looked very different. Finally, he didn’t took the road most people take. He took the one less travelled on. At that time, he didn’t thought it was an important decision, but his choice change his life.

Sometimes I feel a little like Frost. As a child, I dreamed of travelling. Two years ago, I decide to move to a new country. It was a long journey and a big change. Made I the right decision? I hope so.

EDITING EXERCISE – 4: Read the information about the Titanic disaster. Find and correct ten mistakes with the simple past and past continuous.

Eyewitness Accounts¹

According to eyewitness Lawrence Beesly, the ship hit the iceberg and the engines were stopping. Minutes later, Professor Beesly went on deck and he was finding only a few passengers there. Everyone was calm. A few people played cards in the smoking room. While he looked out the window, he saw an iceberg at the side of the ship.

Another survivor, Washington Dodge, said that it was being 11:30 p.m. when the crash happened. He decided to go on deck. While the ship sank, the band played a lively tune. At 1:55 a.m., the ship was sinking completely into the sea.

While passenger Elizabeth Shutes eating a chicken sandwich in her cabin, she “felt a shudder² travel through the ship.” Shortly after, she was sitting in a lifeboat in the middle of the ocean with thirty-four other people. Hours later, someone shouted “A light, a ship!” While Shutes was looking, she was seeing a ship with bright lights coming toward them. It was the Carpathia – the only ship in the area that came to help.

¹ eyewitness accounts: reports by people who saw an accident or crime

² shudder: a quick shaking movement

This page is intentionally left blank.

CHAPTER – 3

WAYS PRAGRAPHS

What Is an Academic Paragraph?

In a paragraph, there is usually a topic sentence that tells you the topic and the main ideas of the paragraph. The topic of a paragraph is one and only one idea. All other sentences tell the reader more about the topic. The last sentence is the concluding sentence and it restates (written in a different way) the topic sentence.

Three basic parts of a paragraph are:

1. Topic Sentence
2. Supporting / Body Sentences (3 Supporting ideas - with examples and details - are expected in Pre-intermediate Level)
3. Concluding Sentence

Remember!!

The three basic parts of a paragraph are:

1. Topic Sentence
2. Supporting / Body Sentences (3 Supporting ideas are expected in Pre-intermediate Level)
3. Concluding Sentence

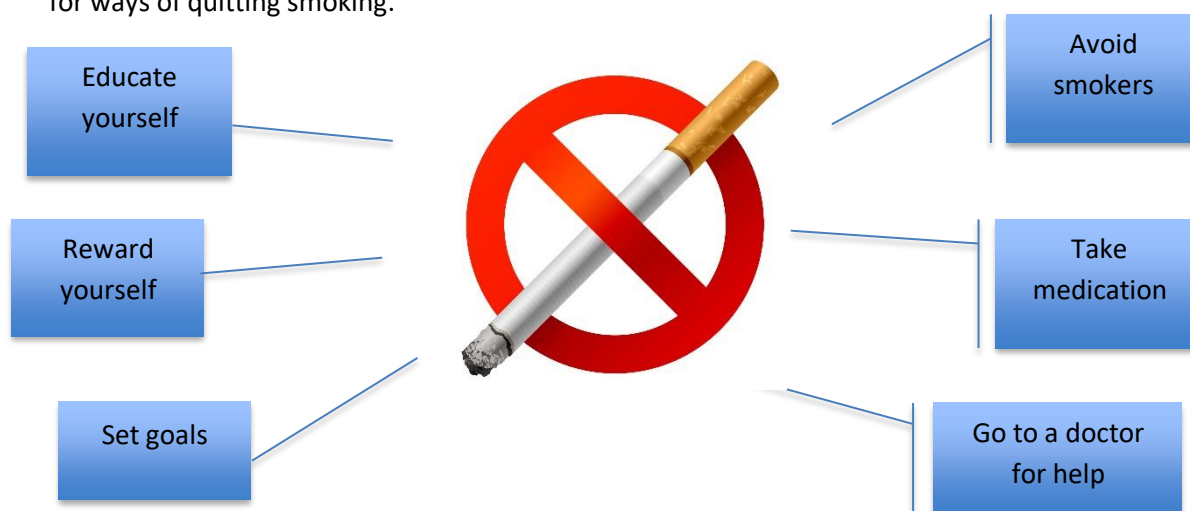

MODEL PARAGRAPH - 1:

WHAT ARE THE WAYS OF QUITTING SMOKING?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently.

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. Below is the brainstorming for ways of quitting smoking.

This is one possible outline based on the list above:

Topic sentence: There are several ways to quit smoking.

Supporting idea 1: Reward yourself.

Detail 1: You will feel like you have achieved something.

Detail 2: You will see how much money you can save.

Supporting idea 2: Avoid people who smoke.

Detail 1: You will feel like smoking.

Detail 2: Smokers encourage others to smoke.

Supporting idea 3: Educate yourself about the dangers of smoking.

Detail 1: Read about the negative effects of smoking on your health.

Detail 2: Learn the dangers of smoking on your family's health.

Concluding sentence: All in all, there are many ways of quitting smoking.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are several ways to quit smoking. The first way is to reward yourself. You should reward yourself every week because you do not smoke. When you reward yourself, you will feel like you have achieved something. Thus , you will not start again. Furthermore , when you buy something for yourself, you will see how much money you can save by quitting smoking. This will motivate you to stay away from smoking. The second
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1	way of quitting smoking is to avoid people who smoke. Studies have shown that when you are always with people who smoke, you will feel like smoking. You will smell the smoke and can think that you really need a cigarette. Therefore , you can start smoking again. In addition to this , some people who smoke encourage others to smoke. When you are with other smokers, they will tell you to smoke. Thus , it becomes harder for you to quit. The final way to quit smoking is to educate yourself about the dangers of smoking. You should read about the negative effects that smoking has on your body and health. It is a fact that smokers have many illnesses and die at a younger age. As a result , you will keep away from smoking when you learn disturbing details. What is more , smoking is also dangerous for your family, especially for children. You will quit smoking when you think about these dangers. All in all , there are many ways
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2	of quitting smoking.
	SUPPORTING IDEA - 3	of quitting smoking.
CONCLUDING SENTENCE

MODEL PARAGRAPH - 2:

WHAT ARE THE WAYS OF BEING SUCCESSFUL IN SPORTS?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently.

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. Below is the brainstorming for ways to be successful in sports.

This is one possible outline based on the list above:

Topic sentence: There are three main ways to be successful in sports.

Supporting idea 1: Have a routine.

Detail 1: Practise every day.

Detail 2: Eat regularly.

Supporting idea 2: Have professional lessons.

Detail 1: A professional instructor trains you.

Detail 2: The professional instructor shows you your mistakes.

Supporting idea 3: Be determined.

Detail 1: Never give up.

Detail 2: Learn to say no.

Concluding sentence: In short, there are several ways to be successful in sports.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are three main ways to be successful in sports. The first
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1	way is to have a routine. When you have a routine, you will practise every day. However , when you don't have practice every day, you cannot keep fit and your performance will decrease. In addition , you should also eat regularly to keep your energy levels high. You must eat at certain times and only certain foods that include protein to have an athlete's body.
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2	The second way to be successful in sports is to have professional lessons. A professional instructor can teach you the types of training that you must do. For instance , you can learn what types of exercise are good for your lower or upper body. Moreover , you can avoid problems and can correct your mistakes with the help of your instructor. As a result , you will not make the same mistakes again and thus improve quickly.
	SUPPORTING IDEA - 3	The final way to be successful in sports is to be determined. You should never give up. Some days you will face with failures, but you must keep working towards your goal. Furthermore , it's possible that you will want to have fun by doing some less energetic activities such as going to the cinema and playing video games. However , you need to learn to say no to stick to your training program. In short , there are several ways to be
CONCLUDING SENTENCE		successful in sports.

❖ TOPIC SENTENCES FOR WAYS PARAGRAPHS

Question: What are the ways of being successful in sports?

Topic Sentence:

1. There are many/several/three ways of being successful in sports.

controlling idea

topic

Question: What are the ways of quitting smoking?

Topic Sentence:

1. There are three main ways to quit smoking.

controlling idea

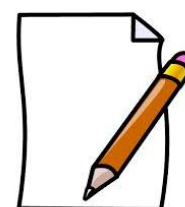

topic

❖ CONCLUDING SENTENCES FOR WAYS PARAGRAPHS

In order to write a concluding sentence, one should include a transitional signal and state topic sentence in a different way.

Transitional Signals	Different versions of concluding sentences
In short, In brief, To sum up, In conclusion, All in all,	- these are the three ways of being successful in sports. - there are many/some/several ways of quitting smoking. - having a routine, having professional lessons and being determined are the ways to be successful in sports.

Note: As can be seen above, there are many ways of saying almost the same thing. For the topic sentence, there are two sentences given. You can use one of them as the topic sentence, and the other one as the concluding sentence of your paragraph. However, you cannot use the same sentence both for topic sentence and concluding sentence.

❖ USEFUL TRANSITIONAL SIGNALS FOR WAYS PARAGRAPHS

1- TO LIST POINTS:

To start with, / To begin with, / First(ly), / First of all, Second(ly), Third(ly), Finally, OR The first way is that Another way is that OR The second way is that The final way is that	you must reward yourself. CLAUSE people should be determined. CLAUSE you should avoid people who smoke. CLAUSE
--	--

Note: Pay attention to the structure that comes after the linkers in the chart below!

The main / first / second / final / most important way of being successful in sports	is to have a routine. NOUN is you should have professional lessons. CLAUSE concerns the determination of a person. V (concerns / deals with) + OBJECT (noun)
---	--

The first / second / last way to quit smoking is	to reward yourself. To infinitive + Object (noun) that you should avoid people who smoke. CLAUSE educating yourself about the dangers of smoking. Ving + Object (noun)
--	--

2- TO ADD DETAILS:

In addition (to this), Furthermore, Moreover, Also, What is more,	you should also eat regularly to keep your energy levels high. CLAUSE
--	---

GIVING EXAMPLES	For example, For instance, To illustrate, such as like	- For instance, you can learn what types of exercise are good for your lower or upper body. - It's possible that you will want to have fun by doing some less energetic activities such as going to the cinema and playing video games.
GIVING RESULTS	Therefore, Thus, As a result, , so	- Therefore, you can start to smoke again. - As a result, you will not make the same mistakes again and thus improve quickly.
STATING REASONS	Since Because As	- You should reward yourself every week because you do not smoke.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 1: Write topic and concluding sentences for each question.

1. What are the ways of transportation?

Topic sentence (TS): There are several ways of transportation.

Concluding sentence (CS): In short, these are the three ways of transportation.

2. What are the ways of making relationships longer?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

3. What are the ways of earning money?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

4. What are the ways of staying awake?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

5. What are the ways of protecting yourself from the cold?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

Write the questions for the topic sentences given below:

6. _____

(TS): There are several ways for companies to innovate.

7. _____

(TS): There are many ways of making old people happy.

8. _____

(TS): There are some ways of getting knowledge.

SUPPORTING YOUR POINT

Support is the collection of examples, facts, or evidence that shows, explains, or proves the main idea of the paragraph. Supporting ideas are the major ideas that back up the main idea, and supporting details give details to back up your supporting ideas.

Main idea (topic sentence) ➡ Supporting idea ➡ Supporting details & examples

Supporting ideas along with the details come after the topic sentence and they make up the body of the paragraph. They give details to develop and support the main idea of the paragraph.

To select the best supporting idea:

- 1-) Carefully read the ideas you have produced during the prewriting activity (brainstorming)
- 2-) Cluster (group) the ideas you have produced around three supporting ideas.
- 3-) Choose the supporting details that will be the clearest and most convincing for your readers: providing best examples, facts, etc.
- 4-) Cross out ideas that are not closely related to supporting ideas.

For supporting details, you can use:

1. Reason: College students want to get a diploma in order to find a good job.
2. Definition: The students waited for a long time for their transcripts that have all of their grades.
3. Description: The students took the exam from the professor's hand, quickly looked at the grade, and began to smile.
4. Fact: 75% of the students who do not attend class regularly receive grades of C or worse.
5. Example: Fort Lauderdale is famous for its beauties such as beaches, national parks, etc.
6. Explanation: She wanted to move from the village to the capital for economic reasons.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 2:

Question: What are the ways of being happy in life?

- a. Read the first supporting idea for the paragraph. Find the five mistakes and correct them.

The first way to be happy is to having many friends. When you have many friends, will have good company and good conversation. As a result, you can releasing stress. However, when you have a problem that it is making you unhappy, your friends can give you advice and helped you.

- b. Read the first detail for the second supporting idea and write the second detail.

The second way of being happy in life is having positive thoughts. You should stay away from thinking negatively about everything. For example, when something is not going right in your life, you shouldn't always complain and think of the bad things. Since you concentrate on the good things, you will be happier. Furthermore,

- c. Write the third supporting idea that has two details.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 3: Fill in the blanks according to the question and given information to complete the paragraph.

Question: What are the ways of making friends?

TS: _____.

Firstly, you must focus on others, not yourself. _____

_____. Furthermore, when you analyze others, you will have a chance to learn more about them. You get information about their likes and dislikes and the way that you should treat them. Thus, this will give you opportunity to build a better friendship. Secondly, _____.

This helps people to see the good aspects of your personality. For example, they can realize the level of your tolerance or helpfulness during their interaction with you. Therefore, they want to become your friend. Moreover, you shouldn't watch TV often. You should go out, especially go to art galleries or join walking groups. Here, you will have the chance to meet people who like the same things as you. Finally, you can go online. You can visit chat rooms that enable people to meet different people from all over the world. It's possible that they will want to see your country and visit you. Thus, you can have a long-lasting friendship.

Moreover, _____

_____.

To sum up, these are the three ways of making friends.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 4: Read the question below and fill out the outline then write a paragraph of 120-180 words.

What are the ways of staying healthy?

OUTLINE:

Topic Sentence: _____

_____.

- Supporting idea 1: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 2: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 3: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

Concluding Sentence: _____

_____.

You can write your paragraph here.

This image shows a full page of blank, lined paper. It features approximately 20 evenly spaced horizontal black lines across its entire width, providing a template for handwriting practice or general note-taking. The margins are consistent on all sides.

EDITING EXERCISE – 1: Read the conversation. Find and correct nine mistakes in the use of the future.

Jill: Going you to Joe's Halloween party next week?

Kelly: Of course. I'm really excited about it. What about you?

Jill: Yes, I'm going go. But I don't know what to wear. Maybe I'm going to be a witch.

Kelly: Oh no, please don't. I'm going to be a witch. I've bought a black hat and I'm going to have a green face.

Jill: Oh, right. OK, so I will no go as a witch. I know. I will putting a white sheet on my head and be a ghost.

Kelly: Hmmm ... Sue and Chris and Sharon is all going to be ghosts. Sue told me yesterday.

Jill: OK, OK. I'm going to buy some Dracula teeth. Is that OK?

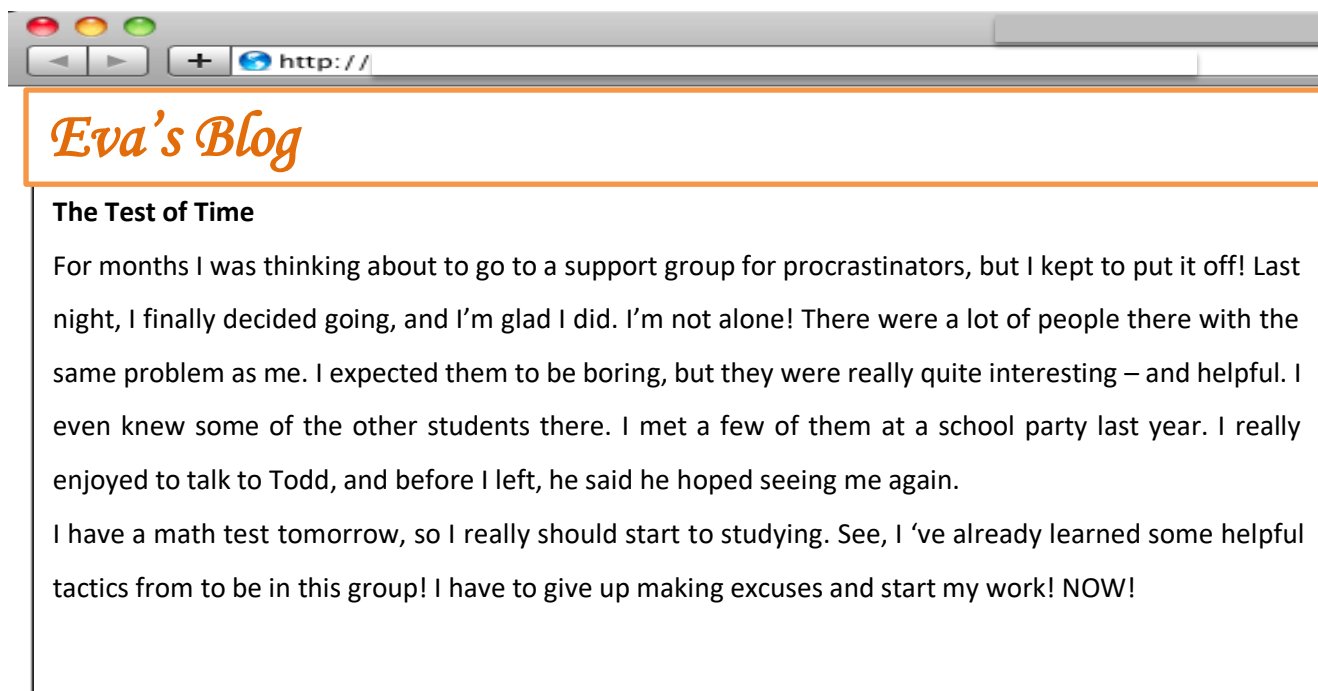

Kelly: Yes, that's a great idea.

Rob: Hi Jill. Hi Kelly. Are you go to Joe's party?

Jill: Oh yes. Yes, and I'm going to be Dracula.

Rob: Dracula? Oh no... please don't. I'm going to being Dracula, too.

EDITING EXERCISE – 2: Read Eva's blog entry. Find and correct seven mistakes with the gerunds and infinitives.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with a title bar and address bar. The address bar contains the text "http: //". Below the browser window, there is a blog entry titled "Eva's Blog" in a stylized orange font. The entry is titled "The Test of Time" and contains two paragraphs of text. The first paragraph describes Eva's experience at a support group for procrastinators. The second paragraph describes her plans to study for a math test tomorrow.

Eva's Blog

The Test of Time

For months I was thinking about to go to a support group for procrastinators, but I kept to put it off! Last night, I finally decided going, and I'm glad I did. I'm not alone! There were a lot of people there with the same problem as me. I expected them to be boring, but they were really quite interesting – and helpful. I even knew some of the other students there. I met a few of them at a school party last year. I really enjoyed to talk to Todd, and before I left, he said he hoped seeing me again.

I have a math test tomorrow, so I really should start to studying. See, I 've already learned some helpful tactics from to be in this group! I have to give up making excuses and start my work! NOW!

EDITING EXERCISE – 3: Read Emily’s email to her family. Find and correct ten mistakes in the use of nouns and quantifiers.

Hi Everyone!

James and I got back from Pompeii few days ago. We bought a little souvenirs, which I’ll mail to you all very soon. We’re still unpacking and looking over the many photograph (hundreds!) we took at this amazing place. Our guidebook calls Pompeii a “time capsule”, and I truly felt that we were somehow communicating with this rich and vibrant cultures. There is never enough times for everything on vacation, but that’s especially true for Pompeii. Really, there are few places in the world this amazing. You should all try to go. I was so impressed!

I plan to do a several blog posts and put up a lot photos to show you what I mean. Speaking of time capsules, I was just in the attic putting away any suitcases, and I discovered a trunk with much old stuff. The old clothing was still in great shape – I might wear some of the skirts and blouses. Oh, and I found many of letters that grandpa wrote to grandma when he was working in Italy on an archaeological dig. A few of them made me cry, and one of them had a recipe for Roman apple cake! I think we’ll try to make it, and we’ll let you know how it turns out.

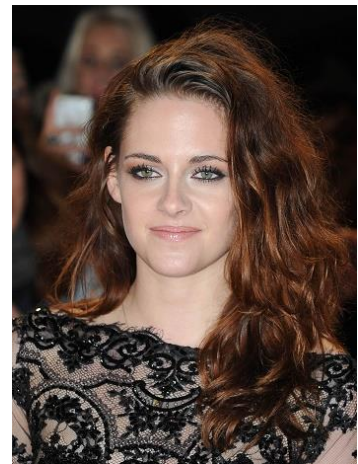

Love,
Emily

EDITING EXERCISE – 4: Read the article about Kristen Stewart. Find and correct eight mistakes in the use of the present perfect with since and for.

A celebrity's life

Kristen Stewart, actress

Kristen Stewart is a famous actress for about five years now. She was an actress since she was eight years old, when her agent saw her performing at school. Her first role was in a film where she didn't speak, but since then she have been in many films. She is probably best known for playing Bella Swan in The Twilight Saga, a part which she has play for four years. Kristen lives in Los Angeles since she was born. Because she was acting at a young age, she couldn't go to school, so she studied online. Since then, she has completed high school. She is now one of the best-paid actresses in Hollywood. Something many people don't know about Kristen is that she has equinophobia, or a fear of horses. She has had this problem since most of her life, but her fans have only known about it for 2012, when she was filming with horses. Kristen explained that she has been scared of them since she has been nine years old, when she had a terrible fall during a horse-riding accident.

EDITING EXERCISE – 5: Read about a young software developer in Uganda. Find and correct six errors with the present perfect and the simple past.

ABDU SAKALALA: SOFTWARE DEVELOPER

Abdu Sakalala is a 22-year-old student in Uganda. His life changed when a phone company has run a training course for software developers in Uganda last year. Sakalala attended the course and then he has started creating his own apps (programs) for mobile phones. Since then, Sakalala wrote several successful apps for cell phones. For example, he has produced a dictionary app, a translation app, and a sports app for soccer fans. Some of these apps have received international attention, and Sakalala made almost $400,000 from his work. But Sakalala is most proud of Uganda Theme. This is an app that changes the display on cell phones with pictures and sounds from his country. When it has appeared on the Internet, it immediately has become one of the most popular downloads in the world that week.

EDITING EXERCISE – 6: Read Tania’s postcard to a friend at home about her feelings about new contry. Find and correct eleven mistakes with the articles.

I have never been to the UK before, but I’ve been to France and lots of countries in the Europe. There are lots of things in this country that are new to me. As you know, I like sport but sports they play in the England are different. I don’t understand cricket and I don’t know much about rugby but I’m going to find out about them.

Some people have silly ideas about the food that people eat in Britain. They don’t really eat fish and chips very much and they don’t always have bacon and eggs for the breakfast. These are a very old-fashioned ideas from past. These days, they eat pasta and curry and the Chinese food and all kinds of things from all over the world.

I really like the old buildings that they have here. I’m very interested in architecture and I like reading about the history of buildings I’ve visited. The history is one of my favourite subjects, but I also want to learn about a culture of the country. I must say that I don’t like weather here. But the people that I’ve met have been nice and I’ve found it easy to make the friends. So I’m glad that I came here.

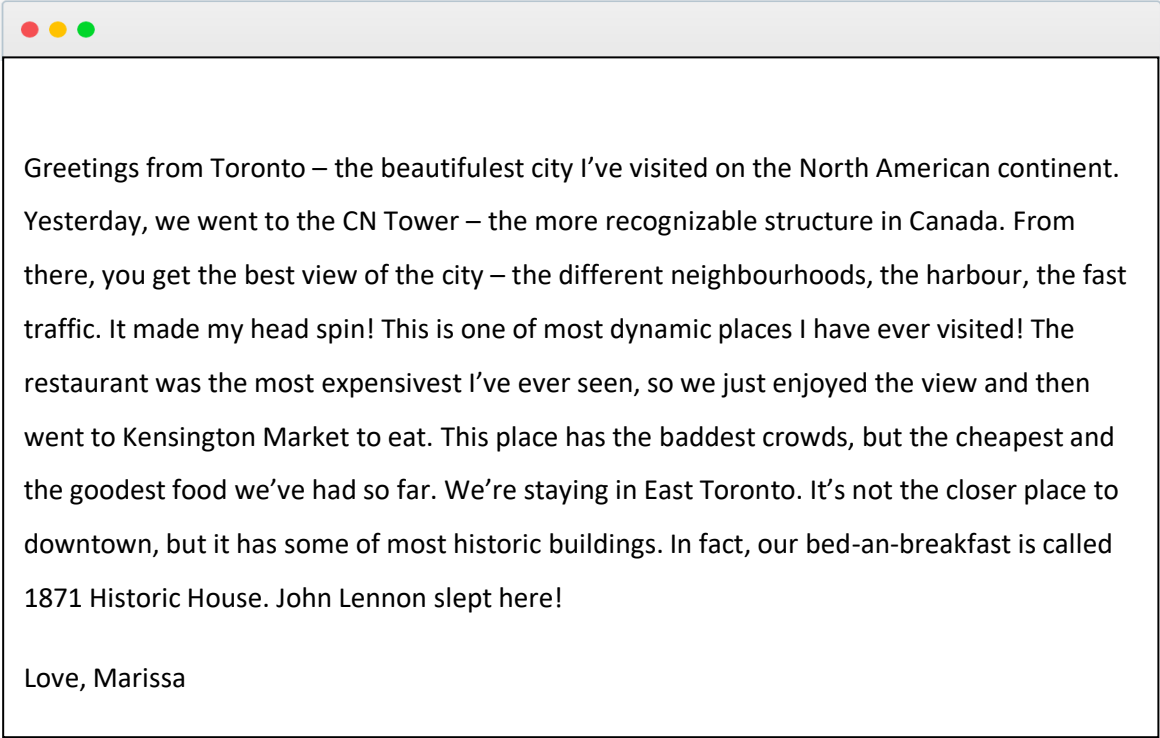

EDITING EXERCISE – 7: Read the student’s essay. Find and correct ten mistakes in the use of as ... as and comparatives with than.

Changing Tastes

When I was a teenager in the Philippines, I was an expert on snacks and fast foods. I was growing fast, so I ate a lot. I felt more hungry because I ate more. The street vendors in our town had the better snacks than anyone else. In the morning, I used to buy rice muffins on the way to school. They are even more sweeter that American muffins. After school, I ate fish balls on a stick or adidas (chicken feet). Snacks on a stick are small than traditional American hot dogs and burgers, but they are much varied, and the food is much fresher. My friend thought banana-cue (banana on a stick) was really incredible. However, they weren’t as sweet from kamote-cue (fried sweet potatoes and brown sugar), my favourite snack.

When I came to the United States, I didn’t like American fast food at first. To me, it was interesting than my native food and not as tastier as the traditional snacks of my home country. Now, I’m getting used to it, and in many ways it seems very good. In fact, it seems deliciouser.

EDITING EXERCISE – 8: Read this email. Find and correct eight mistakes in the use of superlative adjectives.

Greetings from Toronto – the beautifulest city I’ve visited on the North American continent. Yesterday, we went to the CN Tower – the more recognizable structure in Canada. From there, you get the best view of the city – the different neighbourhoods, the harbour, the fast traffic. It made my head spin! This is one of most dynamic places I have ever visited! The restaurant was the most expensivest I’ve ever seen, so we just enjoyed the view and then went to Kensington Market to eat. This place has the baddest crowds, but the cheapest and the gooddest food we’ve had so far. We’re staying in East Toronto. It’s not the closer place to downtown, but it has some of most historic buildings. In fact, our bed-an-breakfast is called 1871 Historic House. John Lennon slept here!

Love, Marissa

Addition to Chapter-3

Process Writing Information

What is the purpose of Process Writing (PW)?

The PW aims to enhance learning by teaching students about their strengths and weaknesses through feedback. The PW is different from the traditional writing tests, because after the exam students don't just learn their grades for their production.

The PW focuses on the learners' performance during the process of learning and gives ideas about their knowledge, skills, abilities, growth and progress. Since students have enough time to produce, they don't have anxiety problems that might negatively affect their production.

Receiving feedback and correction of mistakes are the essential parts of the PW. Students have the chance to read/hear from their instructors about their strengths, weaknesses and concentrate on improving their writing skills by correcting their mistakes and doing further study.

Procedure

The PW is a process including 4 steps: writing in class, receiving feedback, correction, and submission.

Step-1: Writing in Class

Normally, on Week 4, students will complete the first draft in which they will write a paragraph of 120-180 words about a given topic in 1 class hour (50 minutes). The nature of the paragraph is opinion and it requires students to write about three reasons of a specific issue. During this part, they can use a cheat sheet on which students can only write the words with their definition only in English. They cannot write grammar rules or full sentences.

Step-2: Receiving Feedback

During the tutorials in Week 4 and in Week 5, the instructors will give the students feedback about their paragraphs. Students will not see their grades, they will only receive written and spoken feedback. In detail, the instructor will use error correction codes to show their grammatical mistakes (see Figure 3.1 & Figure 3.2). In addition, they will put written feedback for the organization and content on the paper. Students can also hear the explanation of the feedback.

Step-3: Correction

After the tutorial, students take their paragraph home and make changes according to the feedback. They type their 2nd draft on their computer using the template (see Figure 3.2).

Step- 4: Submission

After students finish the correction, they upload it on Moodle. In addition, they also print it out and give it to their instructor along with their first draft on the first day of Week 6 (Monday) by the first class hour. After the instructor has finished marking, students receive their papers. On these papers, they can see their grades for both drafts and their final grade will be the average of the two papers.

For example:

First draft score: $6 \ 6 \ 4 \ 4 = 20 \times 2.5 = 50$

Second draft score: $10 \ 8 \ 8 \ 8 \ 8 = 42 \times 2 = 84$

Final Score: $(50 + 84) / 2 = 67$

Expectations

Our expectations are clearly stated in the grading criteria that students can find on 'Moodle' and on the class bulletin board.

The first draft is graded out of 40 on the basis of 4 criteria: organization, content, grammar & punctuation, and lexis. The second draft will be graded out of 50 on the basis of 5 criteria consisting of all the same sections as well as drafting.

As for the ORGANIZATION, students need to write an appropriate topic sentence, and restate it in the concluding sentence. Also, they need to use specific linkers correctly to signal the supporting ideas (e.g., firstly, secondly, finally) and additional linkers to indicate the supporting details and the connections among the sentences (e.g. In addition, Therefore, etc.). Student should use an indentation (space) once, specifically at the very beginning of the paragraph. They should not separate each supporting idea with indentations. This means they should only write one paragraph. Otherwise, they lose 2 points from organization.

With respect to CONTENT, students should answer the question by providing three separate main supporting ideas. In addition, they need to support their ideas with two details. Writing only two supporting ideas deserves max 7 out of 10 from content.

With regard to GRAMMAR & PUNCTUATION, students are expected to use level-appropriate grammar structures. The range of the structures is the most important factor. This means that they need to use the grammar structures that they have learnt up to the exam time. Additionally, punctuation [i.e, the use of comma (,), full stop (.), semi-colon (;)] and capitalization [i.e., lower case (c) or upper case (C)] play an important role in the score as well.

Concerning LEXIS, students should use a wide range of level appropriate vocabulary to get a high score. The use of the target words significantly affects the lexis score. Furthermore, the accuracy of the word form and spelling of the words is also important for the lexis score.

Word form mistake: success (noun) successful (adjective) succeed (verb)

*Success students work hard. (incorrect)

Successful students work hard. (correct)

Spelling mistake: *pyshcological (incorrect) psychological (correct)

When it comes to DRAFTING, this part is only considered in the second draft. It focuses on the corrections that the students have made. They need to correct their mistakes according to their teacher's feedback on their first draft.

NOTE: Students need to write a paragraph of 120-180 words. If they use less than 110 words, they lose 2 points from the overall score out of 40 or 50.

Also, in the second draft, if they do not follow the necessary formatting according to the template (Figure 3.2), 10% is deducted from the second draft score out of 100.

Error Correction Codes

Instructors use error correction codes to show the mistakes on the first draft. Students need to understand what each code means.

Figure 3.1: The Error Correction Codes

SEPP

WRITTEN CORRECTION CODES

CODE	MEANING	SAMPLE CORRECTION
Gr.	Grammar	He must ^{gr.} goes to school every day.
WW	Wrong word	This postcard ^{ww} remembers me of when we went to America last year.
C	collocation	I didn't have time to ^C make my work yesterday.
WO	Word order	We ^{wo} go usually to the beach after school.
VF	Verb form	I am 27 years old and I ^{VF} am coming from Germany.
Art.	article	We ^{Art.} bought a new car last week.
Prep.	preposition	We went ^{prep.} at the cinema last night.
P	punctuation	I have three sons, they eat a lot. ^P .
Sp.	spelling	I want to do ^{sp.} Buisness Studies at university.
WF	Word form	He was ^{WF} desperate in love with her.
/	Unnecessary word(s)	Jane [/] she loves cooking.
Δ	Missing word(s)	It is important ^Δ study hard for your exams.
St.	Style	Dear Sir / Madam, My mum bought me a CD player from your shop last week and it's already broken so I want a new one. ^{St.}
?	Unclear meaning

Student sample – 1st draft

Here is a sample first draft paragraph. It has been graded using the error correction codes.

Figure 3.2: A Student Sample with Error Correction

WRITING THE FIRST DRAFT

Put your ideas you organised down on paper. You will have the chance of revising your paragraph before you put it in its final form (write a final draft).

Students need to sleep well because ^{Prep.} many reasons. The first reason is that, students should ^P sleeping well because they ^P have to study in school. ^{gr.} If they don't sleep they want ^P sleep in school, and they can't consantrete at their lessans. ^P They consantration ^{Sp.} help ^{gr.} their ^{Prep.} successful. ^{WW} Secondly if students don't sleep well at night ^P they will ^P stress. According to psychologs, ^{WW} ^{WF} A sleepless causes stress, students can't listening to their teachers. ^{gr.} However, if they don't sleep well, they ^{WW} aren't ^{VF} succeeding in their lessons - finally students will have not good health ^{Cap.} if they don't sleep. They can't ^{WO} losing their pyhsical ^{gr.} healthy. Briefly students need ^{SP.} do ^{WF} sleep for ^P good life - ^{art.}

The written feedback for the sample can be seen below:

Organization	The topic sentence is OK. However, the concluding sentence should be added. The current one on the paper is a comment. This is not considered as a concluding sentence. There should be at least two additional linkers for each supporting idea.
Content	The first supporting idea sounds OK, but the connection between success and concentration needs to be clearer. The second supporting idea should be more on the idea of stress. The last supporting idea needs to be further developed because it basically answers the question. The connection between health and sleep needs to be explained with more details.
Grammar & Punctuation	Although the range of grammar structures seems OK, there are frequent grammar errors that may negatively affect the understanding. The existence of these mistakes lowers the importance of sufficient range. The use of punctuation is poor, especially commas. Remember to use 'relative clause', and 'comparative and superlative forms of adjectives' in the second draft!
Lexis	Although the range of vocabulary is sufficient, there are noticeable errors in spelling and word form.

The Second Draft

As mentioned above, the second draft should be prepared by considering the feedback. It should be written on a word document by following the template (see Figure 3.3).

Figure 3.3: Second Draft

The image shows a sample second draft of a student's assignment with handwritten annotations for formatting. The document is titled "Reasons for Sleeping Well" and is centered. The student's name, "Mehmet Aydemir", is at the top left, with a handwritten note "Your name" and a vertical arrow indicating a 2.5cm margin. Below the name is the teacher's name, "Emsal Ateş Özdemir", with a handwritten note "your teacher's name". Below that is the class code, "PIN-02", with a handwritten note "your class code". Below that is the date, "02 October 2014", with a handwritten note "date". Below that is the word count, "Word Count: 175", with a handwritten note "number of words". The title "Reasons for Sleeping Well" is centered, with a handwritten note "center justified title". The first paragraph is indented, with a handwritten note "indentation 1.25cm in". The text is double-spaced, with a handwritten note "double spaced". The font is Calibri, size 11, with a handwritten note "Font = calibri Size = 11". The page number "Mehmet 1" is at the top right, with a handwritten note "header (name + page #)".

Mehmet Aydemir

Emsal Ateş Özdemir

PIN-02

02 October 2014

Word Count: 175

Reasons for Sleeping Well

Students need to sleep well because of many reasons. The first reason is that students should sleep well since they have to study in school. If they don't sleep, they want to sleep in school and they can't concentrate on their lessons. Their concentration helps their success because they can focus and learn better. Secondly, students who don't sleep well at night are stressful. According to psychologists, being sleepless causes stress. Students can't listen to their teachers when they are stressful and they have more problems with their memory. Therefore, if they don't sleep well, they cannot succeed in their lessons and they can get higher grades from the exams. Finally, students who don't sleep well lose their physical health slowly. As a result, they can suffer from illnesses such as headache and backache. When they are ill, they cannot go to school, thus they cannot follow their lessons. In other words, they will be less successful than the students who sleep well. Briefly, these are the three reasons why students need to sleep well.

This format is standard for all writing assignments in the prep school and also in all of your departments.

If your assignment does not conform to this, you will lose points.

The SEPP wishes all its students good luck in their process writing exam!

This page is intentionally left blank

CHAPTER – 4

ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES PARAGRAPHS

Chapter-3 focuses on ways paragraph, its structure, and the linkers that students can use to connect their ideas with each other. What Chapter-4 introduces is similar to the content of Chapter-3. The difference is the QUESTION or PROMPT and some specific details.

Chapter – 3 Questions / Prompts	Chapter – 4 Questions / Prompts
- What are the ways of quitting smoking?	-What are the disadvantages of living in Istanbul?
- What are the ways of being successful in sports?	-What are the advantages of shopping centers?
- What are they ways of being happy in life?	-What are the disadvantages of being an only child?

It is clear from the table that the focus of Chapter-4 is on the advantages or disadvantages of a specific topic. “OR” makes it obvious that there are two sides of the topic and students choose one of them. What they need to do is to choose one side and stick to that idea and explain their opinions accordingly. In other words, in Pre-intermediate level, students should only write about advantages if they choose that side.

WARNING: Learners should not write about advantages and disadvantages on the same paragraph. Otherwise, they will lose points from both organization and content.

Remember!!

The three basic parts of a paragraph are:

4. Topic Sentence
5. Supporting / Body Sentences (3 Supporting ideas are expected at Pre-intermediate Level)
6. Concluding Sentence

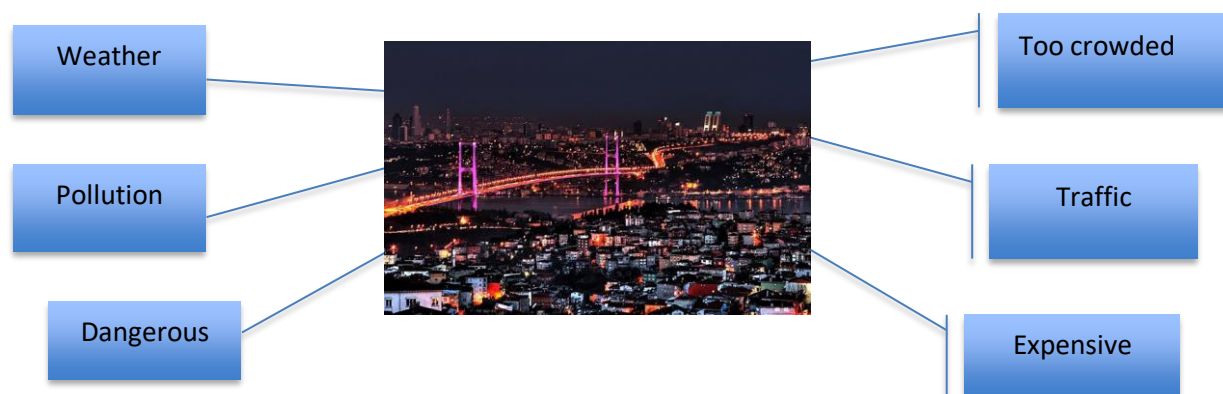

MODEL PARAGRAPH – 1:

WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES OF LIVING IN ISTANBUL?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently. More importantly, you need to focus on ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES only!

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. You can brainstorm about advantages and disadvantages separately first and see what you can write about more. Accordingly, focus on one of them. Below is the brainstorming for disadvantages of living in Istanbul.

This is one possible outline based on the list above:

Topic sentence: There are many disadvantages of living in Istanbul.

Supporting idea 1: It is too crowded.

Detail 1: There is a lot of traffic.

Detail 2: Many places are very busy.

Supporting idea 2: There is a lot of pollution.

Detail 1: Air pollution stems from all the cars.

Detail 2: The people and cars cause noise pollution.

Supporting idea 3: It is very expensive.

Detail 1: Rents and houses are expensive.

Detail 2: Transportation is expensive.

Concluding sentence: In brief, living in Istanbul has these three disadvantages.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are many disadvantages of living in Istanbul. First
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1	of all , Istanbul is a very crowded city. Since there are so many people who live there, traffic is a big problem. There are too many cars on the roads. Therefore , people spend hours stuck in traffic jams and this stresses people out. In addition , places for entertainment are also very busy. It is difficult to find a good place to eat or have fun. For example , if you want to go to a restaurant, you need to make a reservation a few days before.
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2	Secondly , there is a lot of pollution in Istanbul. Air pollution is a big problem that stems from all the gases of the cars and factories. Thus , it is impossible to breathe in clean and fresh oxygen. Furthermore , noise pollution also causes difficulty. Because there are so many people and cars, there is a lot of noise. As a result , it is hard for people to concentrate, relax, work, and sleep.
	SUPPORTING IDEA - 3	Finally , Istanbul is a very expensive city to live in. Every part of Istanbul is valuable. For this reason , there is no cheap accommodation. House prices are the highest in Turkey. What is more , transportation can be expensive, too. Fuel prices make driving and tickets for public transportation expensive. Thus , people need to spend a lot of money for travel.
CONCLUDING SENTENCE		In brief , living in Istanbul has these three disadvantages.

MODEL PARAGRAPH – 2:

WHAT ARE THE ADVANTAGES OF SHOPPING CENTERS?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently. More importantly, you need to focus on ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES only!

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. You can brainstorm about advantages and disadvantages separately first and see what you can write about more. Accordingly, focus on one of them. Below is the brainstorming for advantages of shopping centers.

This is one possible outline:

Topic sentence: There are several advantages of shopping centers.

Supporting idea 1: People can combine shopping with entertainment.

Detail 1: There are many cafés and restaurants.

Detail 2: People can watch movies.

Supporting idea 2: Shopping malls save time.

Detail 1: Lots of shops are in one location.

Detail 2: People can find what they want fast and easily.

Supporting idea 3: Shoppers have many choices in department stores.

Detail 1: People can compare prices of different stores.

Detail 2: People can try on many colors and sizes.

Concluding sentence: To sum up, shopping centers have these three advantages.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are several advantages of shopping centers. The first advantage is that people can combine shopping with entertainment. There are many cafés and restaurants in shopping centers, so people can meet with their friends to socialize. They can do activities like having coffee or lunch together and having a nice conversation. In addition, people can go to the cinema and watch new movies. They can have a fun and relaxing time. Thus, they can relieve stress. The second advantage is that shopping centers save people's time. People do not need to walk around the streets since shopping centers have lots of stores in one location. As a result, they will not waste time. Furthermore, categorization of the stores according to the products that they sell makes it quicker to shop. Because of this, people can find a specific product easily in a short time. The final advantage is the many choices of department stores. If a person likes something in one store, s/he can compare the prices of different stores. Therefore, s/he can choose the cheapest one for her/him. Moreover, because there are many different stores, people can try on many colors and sizes of anything that they want. For instance, if they find a pair of shoes that they like, they can choose the best one. To sum up, shopping centers have these three advantages.
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2
	SUPPORTING IDEA - 3
CONCLUDING SENTENCE

❖ TOPIC SENTENCES FOR ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES PARAGRAPHS

Question: What are the disadvantages of living in Istanbul?

Topic Sentence:

1. Living in Istanbul has three/several/many disadvantages.

topic

controlling idea

OR

2. There are some/three/several disadvantages of living in Istanbul.

controlling idea

topic

Question: What are the advantages of shopping centers?

Topic Sentence:

1. Shopping Centers have three/several/many advantages.

topic

controlling idea

OR

2. There are some/three/several advantages of shopping centers.

controlling idea

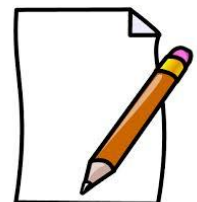

topic

❖ CONCLUDING SENTENCES FOR ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES PARAGRAPHS

In order to write a concluding sentence, one should include a transitional signal and state topic sentence in a different way.

Transitional Signals	Different versions of concluding sentences
In short, In brief, To sum up, In conclusion, All in all,	- these are the three disadvantages of living in Istanbul. - living in Istanbul has these three/some/several disadvantages. - there are several/some/three disadvantages of living in Istanbul.

Note: As can be seen above, there are many ways of saying almost the same thing. For the topic sentence, there are two sentences given. You can use one of them as the topic sentence, and the other one as the concluding sentence of your paragraph. However, you cannot use the same sentence both for topic sentence and concluding sentence.

❖ USEFUL TRANSITIONAL SIGNALS FOR ADVANTAGES OR DISADVANTAGES PARAGRAPHS

1- TO LIST POINTS:

To start with / To begin with, / First(ly), / First of all, Second(ly), Third(ly), Finally, OR The first advantage is that Another advantage is that OR The second advantage is that The final advantage is that	there is a lot of pollution in Istanbul. CLAUSE Istanbul is a very crowded city. CLAUSE Istanbul is a very expensive city to live in. CLAUSE
---	--

Note: Pay attention to the structure that comes after the linkers in the chart below!

The main / first / second / final / most important advantage	is the many choices of department stores. NOUN is that shopping centers save people's time. CLAUSE concerns the combination of shopping and entertainment. V (concerns / deals with) + OBJECT (noun)
---	--

The first / second / last disadvantage of living in Istanbul is	the high level of pollution. NOUN that it is an expensive city to live in. CLAUSE requiring too much money to live. Ving + Object (noun)
---	--

2- TO ADD DETAILS

In addition (to this), Furthermore, Moreover, Also, What is more,	people can go to the cinema and watch new movies. CLAUSE
--	--

GIVING EXAMPLES	For example, For instance, To illustrate, such as like	- For example, if you want to go to a restaurant, you need to make a reservation a few days before. - For instance, if they find a pair of shoes that they like, they can choose the best one. - They can do activities like having coffee or lunch together and having a nice conversation.
GIVING RESULTS	Therefore, , so Thus, As a result,	- Therefore, people spend hours stuck in traffic jams and this stresses people out. - As a result, it is it hard for people to concentrate, relax, work, and sleep. - Thus, they can relieve stress.
STATING REASONS	Since Because As	- Because there are so many people and cars, there is a lot of noise. - People do not need to walk around the streets since shopping centers have lots of stores in one location.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 1: Write topic and concluding sentences for each question.

1. What are the advantages OR disadvantages of early marriage?

Topic sentence (TS): There are several disadvantages of early marriage.

Concluding sentence (CS): In short, early marriage has these three disadvantages.

2. What are the advantages OR disadvantages of exams?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

3. What are the advantages OR disadvantages of a change in life?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

4. What are the advantages OR disadvantages of e-books?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

5. What are the advantages OR disadvantages of eating fast food?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

Write the questions for the topic sentences given below:

6. _____

(TS): There are several disadvantages of wearing a uniform at school.

7. _____

(TS): There are many advantages of having a car.

8. _____

(TS): There are some disadvantages of playing video games.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE-2:

Question: What are the advantages OR disadvantages of being a well-known person?

1) Write the topic sentence and concluding sentence for the same question.

T.S: _____

C.S: _____

2) Put the sentences in order to make the first supporting idea for the question given above.

- a) Since they earn a lot of money, they can buy anything that they want.
For example, they can buy expensive cars, houses, and clothes.
- b) Also, when they travel they can stay in high standard comfortable hotels, so they can relax and be more stress-free.
- c) The first advantage is that well-known people have a luxurious life.
- d) In addition, well-known people can travel much more frequently.
- e) Therefore, they can see many different people and cultures.

3) Write the keywords of the supporting details in the blanks given below.

The second advantage is having a lot of fans. Many people like them, so they get respect from people wherever they go. This makes them feel good because they receive a lot of attention. Moreover, celebrities are idols for ordinary people. For this reason, they can influence people positively. They can educate and help other people by setting an example.

Supporting idea: _____

Detail – 1: _____

Detail – 2: _____

4) Write the last supporting idea for the same question.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 3: Write the question of the paragraph and fill in the blanks with the sentences given below to complete the paragraph.

Question:

_____?

1) _____. Firstly, there is a lot of pressure from parents. Because of being their only child, parents want their child to be very successful at school. 2) _____. In addition, the child is the central focus of the parents which can make them unhappy. For this reason, the child has less freedom. 3) _____. Secondly, being lonely is one of the major disadvantages of being an only child. 4) _____. Therefore, they may feel helpless in solving these problems. Furthermore, they may not have much fun because they have to play alone most of the time. 5) _____. Finally, an only child can have a lack of social skills. They might not make friends easily. 6) _____. Moreover, the child may not work cooperatively in groups. 7) _____. In conclusion, being an only child has several disadvantages.

- a) They might not find anyone to share their problems with.
- b) As a result, the child can start to feel isolated at school and maybe in his/her future life.
- c) They may not have the skills to work as a team and this may cause problems for them in their school and work life.
- d) There are three disadvantages of being an only child.
- e) For example, they cannot go out very much and have to be at home.
- f) Thus, some children cannot deal with these high expectations and suffer depression.
- g) Thus, the lack of fun can cause unhappiness.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 4: Read the question below and fill out the outline then write a paragraph of 120-180 words.

What are the advantages OR disadvantages of joining student clubs at university?

OUTLINE:

Topic Sentence: _____
_____.

- Supporting idea 1: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 2: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 3: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

Concluding Sentence: _____
_____.

[illegible]

EDITING EXERCISE – 1: Read Max and Sam’s plans for next weekend. Find and correct six mistakes with the may and might.

'We feel like doing something special next weekend, but we haven't decided what to do yet. It might be sunny, so we go for a walk in the country on Saturday. We maybe have lunch in a restaurant, or we may took some sandwiches with us.

On the other hand, it might rain, so we will be not able to go out. In that case, we may inviting some friends for dinner on Saturday. We may make dinner ourselves, or we eat out, we're not sure.

Everything depends on the weather, really.'

EDITING EXERCISE – 2: Read the conversation between Jane and Nick about Nick’s secret job. Find and correct six mistakes with the obligation modals.

Jane: What do you have to do in your job exactly?

Nick: I don't have to tell you too much about it. A lot of my work is secret.

Jane: Really? Well, you don't have to tell me anything if you don't want to.

Nick: Well, I can tell you that I do research work for various companies about games products.

Jane: Have you to play a lot of games?

Nick: I can, but I haven't to do that.

Jane: Do you have to go to other countries to do your research?

Nick: Sometimes. I've just been on a trip but I won't go abroad again until next year.

Jane: Did you had to get any particular qualifications before you got that job?

Nick: No, I hadn't to do a course – experience was more important.

Jane: So, are there any exciting new games coming out soon?

Nick: Yes, there is one that's going to be really popular. You mustn't to repeat this to anyone, but it's called Weird. I mustn't say any more. Only a few people know about this game.

Jane: Don't worry. I won't say a word.

EDITING EXERCISE – 3: Read the conversation between Ivan and Meg. Find and correct five mistakes with the first conditional.

Ivan: If I don't work late tomorrow night, my wife and I are going to see a movie. What are you doing this weekend?

Meg: My sister Carla is coming for a visit. If the weather will be good, we're going to go hiking. If it won't, we'll go shopping downtown.

Ivan: The weather report said it's going to be sunny all weekend.

Meg: Great! We'll go hiking, then!

Ivan: When you get out in the woods, you'll see a lot of wildlife, I'm sure. I always see interesting wildlife when I go hiking around here.

Meg: I know. I saw a lot of deer when I was hiking last weekend. I really hope we see some deer this weekend. Carla is so excited if we do. She loves deer.

Ivan: Really? Does she like bears, too? I hear there are a lot of bears around this year!

Meg: Bears? That sounds dangerous.

Ivan: Don't worry. If you make a lot of noise when you see a bear, it probably runs away.

Meg: It's good to hear that. Still, unless we don't see a bear, I'll feel safer.

EDITING EXERCISE – 4: Read the announcement on a children's TV programme about a competition. Find and correct six mistakes with the passive voice.

As you know, a short story competition runs by this programme every year, and every year, stories are send in by children from all over the country for the competition. And I know that many of you are creating fantastic stories right now. Last year, the competition is won by a story called Creeps and that story was wrote by Ellie Stone, aged 12. It was publish by the teenage magazine YLP and it was read thousands of people. This year the film director Marvin White is going to judge the competition. And this year, a film studio in London is offering the top prize – Marvin will make the winning story into a short film after the competition. This channel will show that film later in the year.

This page is intentionally left blank.

CHAPTER – 5

REASONS PARAGRAHS

Chapter-4 focuses on the advantages and disadvantages paragraph, its structure, and the linkers that students can use to connect their ideas with each other. What Chapter-5 introduces is similar to the content of Chapter-4. The different thing is the QUESTION or PROMPT and some specific details.

Chapter – 4 Questions / Prompts	Chapter – 5 Questions / Prompts
- What are the advantages OR disadvantages of living in Istanbul? - What are the advantages OR disadvantages of shopping centers? - What are the advantages OR disadvantages of being an only child?	- Why do people want to visit Australia? - Why should children read books? - Is it good for people to take a university education? Why? Why not?

Remember!!

The three basic parts of a paragraph are:

1. Topic Sentence
2. Supporting / Body Sentences (3 Supporting ideas are expected in Pre-intermediate Level)
3. Concluding Sentence

MODEL PARAGRAPH – 1:

WHY DO PEOPLE WANT TO VISIT AUSTRALIA?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently.

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. Below is the brainstorming for why people want to visit Australia.

This is one possible outline based on the list above:

Topic sentence: There are many reasons why people want to visit Australia.

Supporting idea 1: Australia has a variety of nature.

Detail 1: Australia offers the most beautiful natural sites such as beaches, natural rock formations, and forests.

Detail 2: People can stay at ports or bays, and explore new places.

Supporting idea 2: Aboriginal culture can be experienced in Australia.

Detail 1: People can take an Aboriginal tour to explore their lifestyle.

Detail 2: People can learn about their way of communicating.

Supporting idea 3: Australia offers exciting activities.

Detail 1: People can go snorkelling or diving.

Detail 2: Skydiving is another activity that visitors in Australia can try.

Concluding sentence: All in all, people would like to visit Australia for these three reasons.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are many reasons why people want to visit Australia. The first reason is that Australia has a variety of nature. Australia offers the most beautiful natural sites, especially if you want to relax in a clean and refreshing environment. You can drive along the Great Ocean Road and enjoy the scenery such as beaches, natural rock formations, or forests. Furthermore, you can stay at one of the ports or bays and enjoy the peaceful nature. You can explore places that you cannot see anywhere else. The second reason is Australia's unique Aboriginal culture. Aborigines are the indigenous people of Australia and have a very rich cultural background. You can take an Aboriginal tour to visit their villages and explore their lifestyle. For example, you can try on their different clothes and even buy some to take home. Moreover, you can meet friendly Aborigines and learn their own ways of communicating. Therefore, you can have a new perspective of people. The final reason is taking part in some exciting activities. You can go snorkelling or diving in the Great Barrier Reef. You can have an unforgettable swim with many beautiful underwater animals. Also, you can jump out of an airplane and skydive over the Gold coast. This will give you a bird's eye view of one of the world's most incredible places. Thus, you can have a once-in-a-lifetime experience and share it with your friends. All in all, people would like to visit Australia for these three reasons.
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2
	SUPPORTING IDEA - 3
CONCLUDING SENTENCE

MODEL PARAGRAPH – 2:

WHY SHOULD CHILDREN READ BOOKS?

Remember the brainstorming & clustering for the topic in Chapter-2 of the writing booklet.

Also, remember that you don't have to use all of the ideas, and you need three supporting ideas. You should also remember to give details to support each of your supporting ideas. In addition, you should write the topic sentence and concluding sentence differently.

First, have a look at the brainstorming & clustering for the topic. Below is the brainstorming for why people want to visit Australia.

This is one possible outline based on the list above:

Topic sentence: There are several reasons why children should read books.

Supporting idea 1: Reading books develops children's language skills.

Detail 1: Children improve their vocabulary knowledge through reading.

Detail 2: Children become fluent in reading.

Supporting idea 2: Children will have different perspectives.

Detail 1: Children understand the world around them better.

Detail 2: Reading brings new ideas into children's lives.

Supporting idea 3: Children will take pleasure in reading books.

Detail 1: Children can stay away from stress.

Detail 2: Children can improve social skills, and share new knowledge about the books with their friends.

Concluding sentence: In short, developing language skills, having different perspectives, and taking pleasure are the reasons why children should read books.

TOPIC SENTENCE		There are several reasons why children should read books. Firstly, reading books develops children's language skills. It can help them improve their vocabulary knowledge. Children can use the new vocabulary to communicate with other people. In addition to this, if they read regularly, they will be fluent in reading. Since they will have good reading skills, it will help them in their future education. Secondly, children will have different perspectives if they read books. They can understand the world around them better by reading factual books about any subject. For example, they can learn about different countries' history and culture. Children can see books as a source of getting information, so they can easily obtain any knowledge. Furthermore, reading books brings new ideas into children's lives such as ideas about fantasy worlds, other planets, different time periods and invented characters. Thus, children can imagine anything that they want through these ideas. Finally, reading is a good source of pleasure. In a busy modern life, children can stay away from stress by reading books. Moreover, children can improve their social skills by talking to their friends about the books they have read and share the new knowledge they have learnt. In short, developing language skills, having different perspectives, and taking pleasure are the reasons why children should read books.
BODY OF THE PARAGRAPH	SUPPORTING IDEA-1
	SUPPORTING IDEA-2
	SUPPORTING IDEA – 3
CONCLUDING SENTENCE

❖ TOPIC SENTENCES FOR REASONS PARAGRAPHS

Question: Why do people want to visit Australia?

Topic Sentence:

1. People want to visit Australia for / because of three / several / many reasons.

topic

controlling idea

OR

2. There are some / three / several reasons why people want to visit Australia.

controlling idea

topic

Question: Why should children read books?

Topic Sentence:

1. Children should read books because of / for three / several / many reasons.

topic

controlling idea

OR

2. There are some / three / several reasons why children should read books.

controlling idea

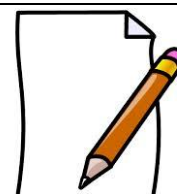

topic

❖ CONCLUDING SENTENCES FOR REASONS PARAGRAPHS

In order to write a concluding sentence, one should include a transitional signal and state the concluding sentence in a different way to the topic sentence.

Transitional Signals	Different versions of concluding sentences
In short, In brief, To sum up, In conclusion, All in all,	- these are the reasons why people want to visit Australia. - people want to visit Australia for these three/several/many reasons. - children should read books because of/for these three reasons. - developing language skills, having different perspectives, and taking pleasure are the reasons why children should read books.

Note: As can be seen above, there are many ways of saying almost the same thing. For the topic sentence, there are two sentences given. You can use one of them as the topic sentence, and the other one as the concluding sentence of your paragraph.

❖ USEFUL TRANSITIONAL SIGNALS FOR REASONS PARAGRAPHS

1- TO INTRODUCE A SUPPORTING IDEA:

To start with / To begin with, / First(ly), / First of all, Second(ly), Third(ly), Finally, OR The first reason is that Another reason is that OR The second reason is that The final reason is that	reading books develops children's language skills. CLAUSE Australia has a variety of nature. CLAUSE you can take part in some exciting activities. CLAUSE
--	---

Note: Pay attention to the structure that comes after the linkers in the chart below!

The main / first / most important reason why people want to visit Australia is	Australia's unique Aboriginal culture. NOUN that Australia has a variety of nature. CLAUSE taking part in some exciting activities. VERB + ing
---	--

2- TO ADD DETAILS

In addition (to this), Furthermore, Moreover, Also,	you can meet friendly Aboriginals. CLAUSE
---	---

GIVING EXAMPLES	For example, For instance, To illustrate, such as like	- You can take an Aboriginal tour to visit their villages and explore their lifestyle. For example, you can try on their different clothes and even buy some to take home. - Reading books brings new ideas into children's lives such as ideas about fantasy worlds, other planets, different time periods and invented characters.
GIVING RESULTS	Therefore, Thus, As a result, , so	- This will give you a bird's eye view of one the world's most incredible places. Thus, you can have a once-in-a-lifetime experience and share it with your friends. - Children can see books as a source of getting information, so they can easily obtain any knowledge.
STATING REASONS	Since Because As	- Since they will have good reading skills, it will help them in their future education.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 1: Write topic and concluding sentences for each question.

1. Why do people start smoking?

Topic sentence (TS): People start smoking for several reasons.

Concluding sentence (CS): In short, these are the three reasons why people start smoking.

2. Why is Sweden the best country in the world?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

3. Is it good to use iPads to read? Why? Why not?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

4. Is it good for people to read the news every day? Why? Why not?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

5. Why should children play games?

(TS): _____

(CS): _____

Write the questions for the topic sentences given below:

6. _____

(TS): It is good for students to take notes every class for many reasons.

7. _____

(TS): _____ is my best friend because of several reasons.

8. _____

(TS): The best invention is television because of several reasons.

SAMPLE FOR SUPPORTING IDEAS AND DETAILS:

Question: Why do students need to sleep well?

Supporting ideas:

1) Sleeping well makes your brain work better.

❖ Supporting details

- a. Since students need to concentrate a lot in class, they can understand complex information with more focus by sleeping well.
- b. They can encode information into their long-term memory, so they can remember better in the future because they have a fresher mind.

2) Sleeping well helps students avoid stress.

❖ Supporting details

- a. Students will be happier and have better relationships with their family and friends. Therefore, they can share their problems or happiness.
- b. Because of less stress, students will have academic success that makes them happier.

3) The last reason why students need to sleep well is for physical health.

❖ Supporting details

- a. Students who sleep well will be ill less. For example, they will have less heart problems, obesity problems, and immune system problems.
- b. By sleeping better, students will have enough energy to do sports as an extracurricular activity. As a result, they will have a healthy body.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 2: Read the question and the paragraph below and fill out the outline, afterwards. After filling out the outline, complete the paragraph by writing the first supporting idea based on the outline.

Is it good for children to watch TV? Why? Why not?

Watching TV is good for children for many reasons. Firstly, _____

_____. Secondly, thanks to watching TV, children can build analytical skills by discussing media. Parents can help their children by asking questions about the show or cartoon. Therefore, children will develop their imagination and can learn to predict what will happen next. Furthermore, children can learn how to compare and contrast different things. For instance, they can compare shows, cartoons and characters with their friends or family members. This will help children to see different perspectives. Finally, children can learn good habits by watching TV. Their favorite characters can be a role model for them, so when the character does or says something good, children will copy and do the same thing. As a result, children can learn to be good. Moreover, many children's shows promote positive things such as healthy living, environmental awareness, and good behavior. Because of these, children learn about right and wrong, good and bad from a source other than their parents or teachers. To sum up, children benefit from watching TV for these three reasons.

OUTLINE:

Topic Sentence: _____

_____.

- Supporting idea 1: Watching TV is good for educational purposes.
 - Detail 1: They can learn about and see many new things that they can't see in real life.
 - Detail 2: They can watch cartoons and other programs in different languages.

- Supporting idea 2: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 3: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

Concluding Sentence: _____

_____.

PARAGRAPH EXERCISE – 3: Read the question below and fill out the outline then write a paragraph of 120-180 words.

Is it good to take a university education? Why? Why not?

OUTLINE:

Topic Sentence: _____
_____.

- Supporting idea 1: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 2: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

- Supporting idea 3: _____
 - Detail 1: _____
 - Detail 2: _____

Concluding Sentence: _____
_____.

[illegible]

EDITING EXERCISE – 1: Read the conversation between Mandy and David. Find and correct five mistakes with the second conditional.

Mandy: It would be nicer if this hotel room had a view of the sea.

David: I know, but those rooms cost extra. So, what are your plans for the next few days?

Mandy: What about the diving course? It's rather expensive, but ...

David: Mmm. If we would do that, we wouldn't have any more money! What about the two-day trip to Granada?

Mandy: We've already paid for all our meals here. If we go on the two-day trip, we would missed dinner here. What else can we do?

David: I'm not sure. I looked in the guidebook if I had it here, but I left it at home. We can ask at reception ...

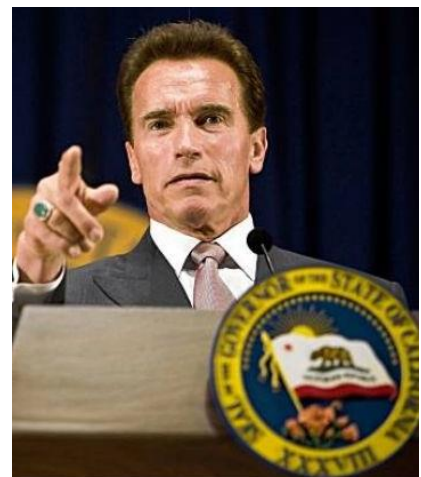

Mandy: OK, I'll do that. Now what shall I wear for dinner? My new jacket?

David: I didn't wear that if I were you. It's very warm tonight.

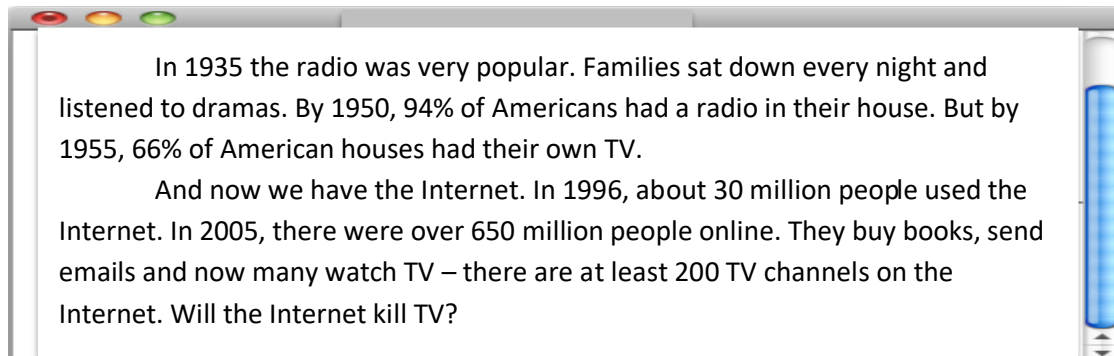

EDITING EXERCISE – 2: Read the article about Arnold Schwarzenegger. Find and correct six mistakes with used to.

The politician who used to be a film star

Arnold Schwarzenegger's life is very different today. He use to be an actor, but now he is a politician. These days he lives in California, but he didn't live there, he used to live in Austria. He had an Austrian passport for many years, but he used to get an American passport in 1983 when he became a US citizen. When he was young, he wasn't use to be interested in politics – his main interest was exercise and he used spend hours in the gym every day, building his muscles. He was very successful and he used to win Mr. Universe competition five times.

EDITING EXERCISE – 3: Read four responses to the article about Internet TV. Find and correct five mistakes with –ed and –ing adjectives.

This is a worried article. I work for a company that makes TVs. But I think TV is going to be here for a long time. Remember, 90% of people in the world have never used a computer. – Chas, New York

I was surprising by something I read recently: people who use the Internet watch over four hours less TV every week than people who don't use the Internet. TV is dying! This is excited news! – Hugo, Sao Paolo

I'm living in the UK at the moment. Internet TV is amazed. I can watch interesting programmes in my first language – Chinese. – Wei-Sum Leung, London

In our house, we have two TVs, two computers and five children. In the past, the children argued over the remote control. Now they fight to use the computer! They think TV is boring and they are tiring of watching it. – Claudia, Rome